HORSES.

CLYDESDALE (MALES).

Mr. John Thomson, 60 Victoria-street, North Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 23).

The class for aged stallions comprised the best lot of horses I have seen at a Melbourne show. The champion is a splendid specimen of the up-to-date Clydesdale, and would take a lot of beating at any of the leading shows in Scotland. The three-year-olds were an average lot, with nothing outstanding. The two-year-old class contained a lot of good colts, and what I considered the best is a beautiful colt, with size and quality combined, and one that should grow into a great horse, and leave his mark in the Clydesdale ranks. The one-year-olds contained a lot of good, big colts, although shown somewhat in the rough. The majority had size and quality combined, and should grow into big, good horses. The first prize group was especially good. I had no hesitation in awarding the championship to Scotland's Viceroy.

CLYDESDALE (FEMALES).

Mr. John Macdonald, Deewhy, Manly, New South Wales.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 24).

In the various classes the prize winners were animals of excellent quality, and showing plenty of Clydesdale breeding. This, no doubt, is the result of breeding with pure-bred stock.

"GRACE OF CRAIGWILLIE" (imp.) [33,342 C.S.B.] (1144 C.), exhibited by Mr. W. M. Black.

In the younger classes breeders would be well advised to pay more attention to the handling of stock intended for show purposes; also to see that every care is taken to keep the feet and legs right, and not indulge in over feeding. This, in my opinion, is the great secret in bringing out young stock.

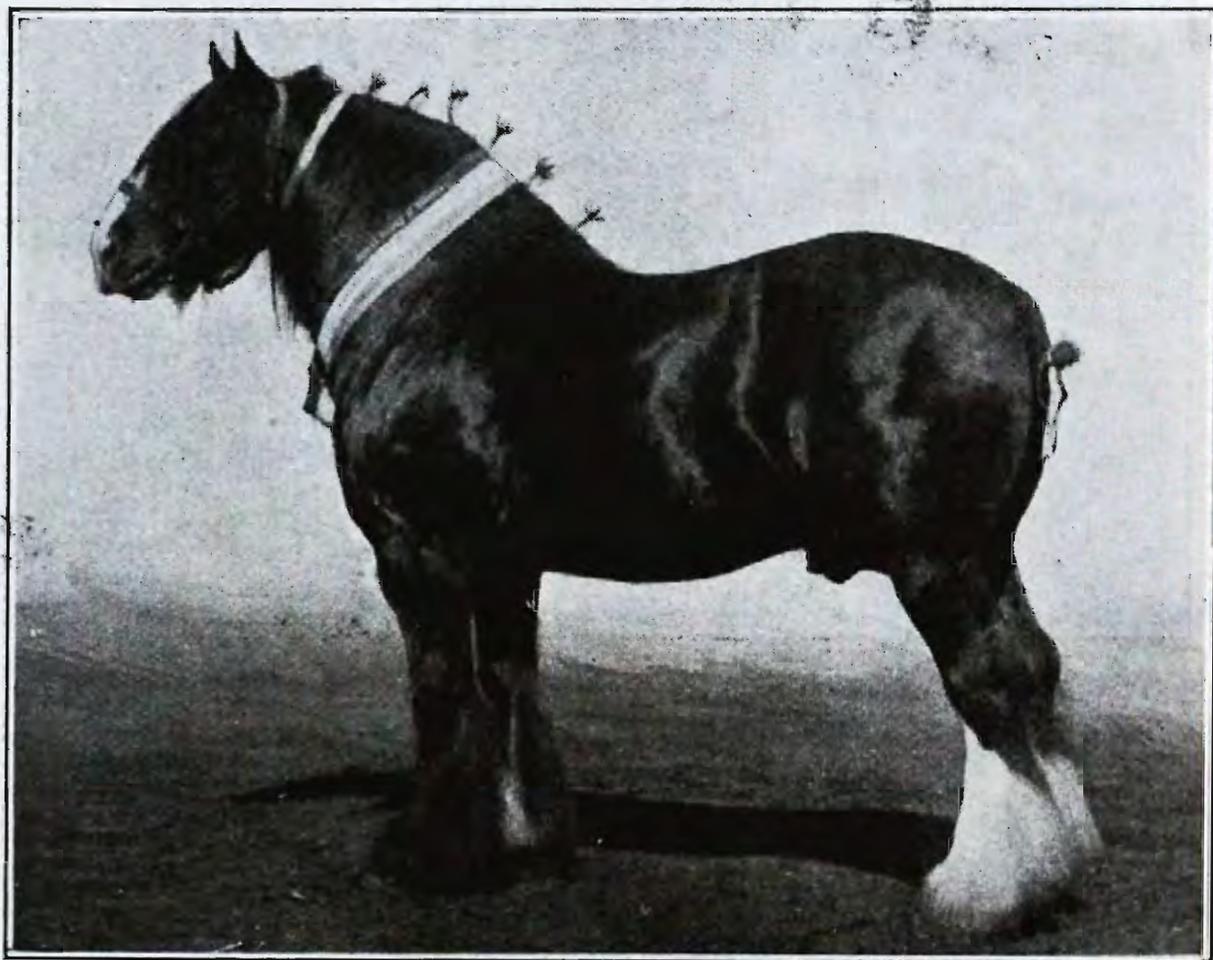

SHIRES, DRAUGHTS AND SUFFOLK PUNCHES.

Mr. W. Hodge, East Metcalfe, via Kyneton.

(Complete awards in these Sections will be found on page 26).

With the exception of one or two classes, this section was not a very strong one, either in regard to number or quality. The idea of having young lads in the ring learning to judge is, to my mind, a good one, but in judging you have not the time to point out all the defects in the horses.

Only three Shire stallions were exhibited, the first and second being two good types of the Shire horse. The first showed more quality, had better pasterns, and moved more freely than the others, although the second was a very good one. The third was much inferior to the first and second.

Champion Shire Stallion, "Royal" Show, 1920.
 "QUARRINGTON CHATSWORTH" (imp.) [29,751 E.S.H.S.B.], exhibited by Mr. L. B. Oppenheim.

Only two draught stallions came forward, and neither of them was anything above the average; in fact, both were of a totally different type, and comment, therefore, is unnecessary.

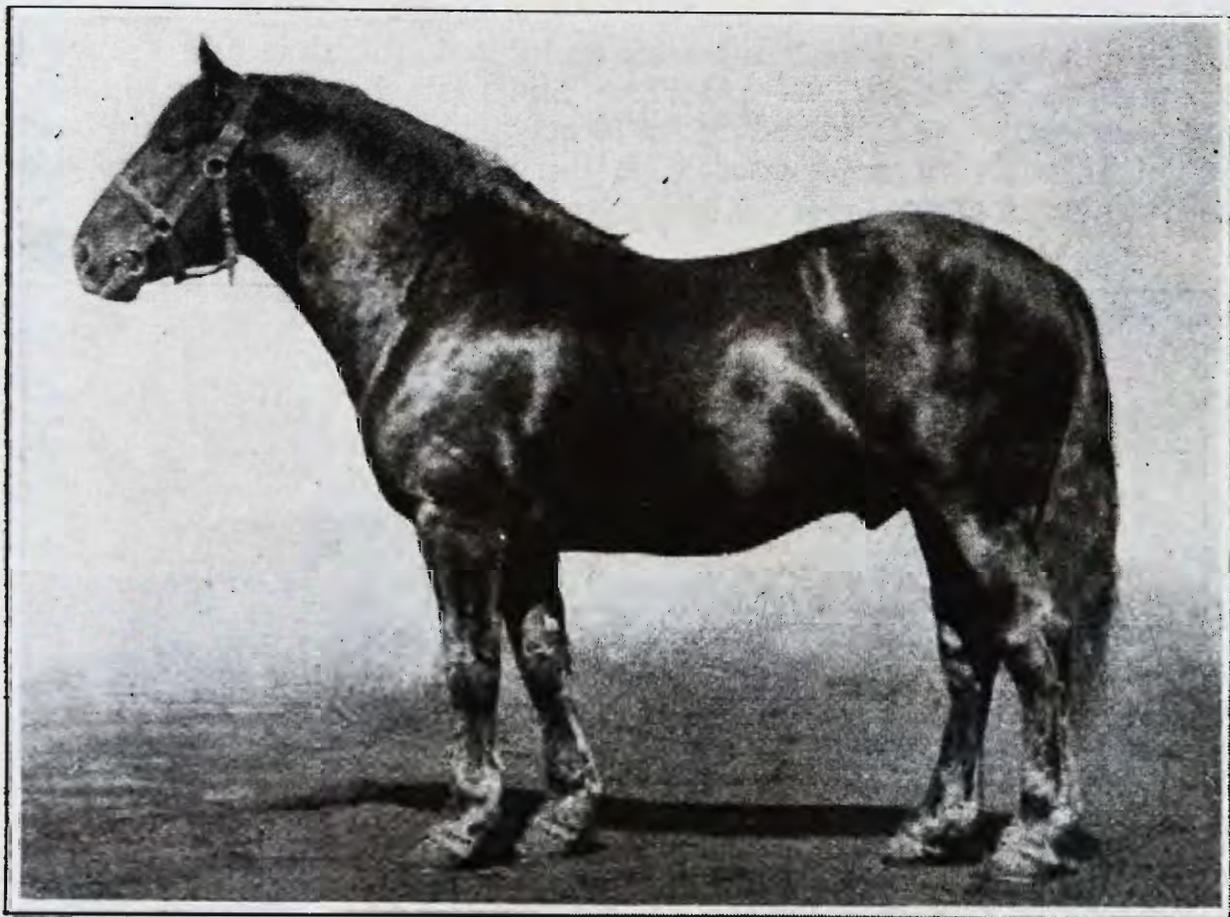

Only one dry mare entered the ring, but she was a very fine mare. I would like to have seen about a dozen of the same sort.

There were four yearling fillies. The first and second were two very nice and even fillies, well grown, and showing good breeding, but the other two were poor specimens of the draught horse.

There were two exhibits in the four-horse lorry class, and they were both very fine teams, and well got up.

The seven two-horse lorry teams made a splendid show, as there was not a poor team amongst them, and the owners deserved credit for the way they were got up. It proved a very difficult task to judge, and I am certain there was no finer exhibit in the horse section.

Three mares or geldings for lorry purposes were shown. Here again were two good exhibits, there being not much difference between the first and second horses.

Champion Suffolk Punch Stallion, "Royal" Show, 1920.

"SUDBOURN'S VICTORY,"

exhibited by Mr. A. C. Head.

Four mares for farm purposes came forward. The first, second and third were very fair mares, showing nice quality and good action.

Three horses were shown in the class for heavy dray geldings, but they were far below what go to make a good dray horse.

A poor display of walking was given in the class for the best walking horse. In fact, the horse that won would never get a prize for anything else.

ARABS AND THOROUGHBREDS.

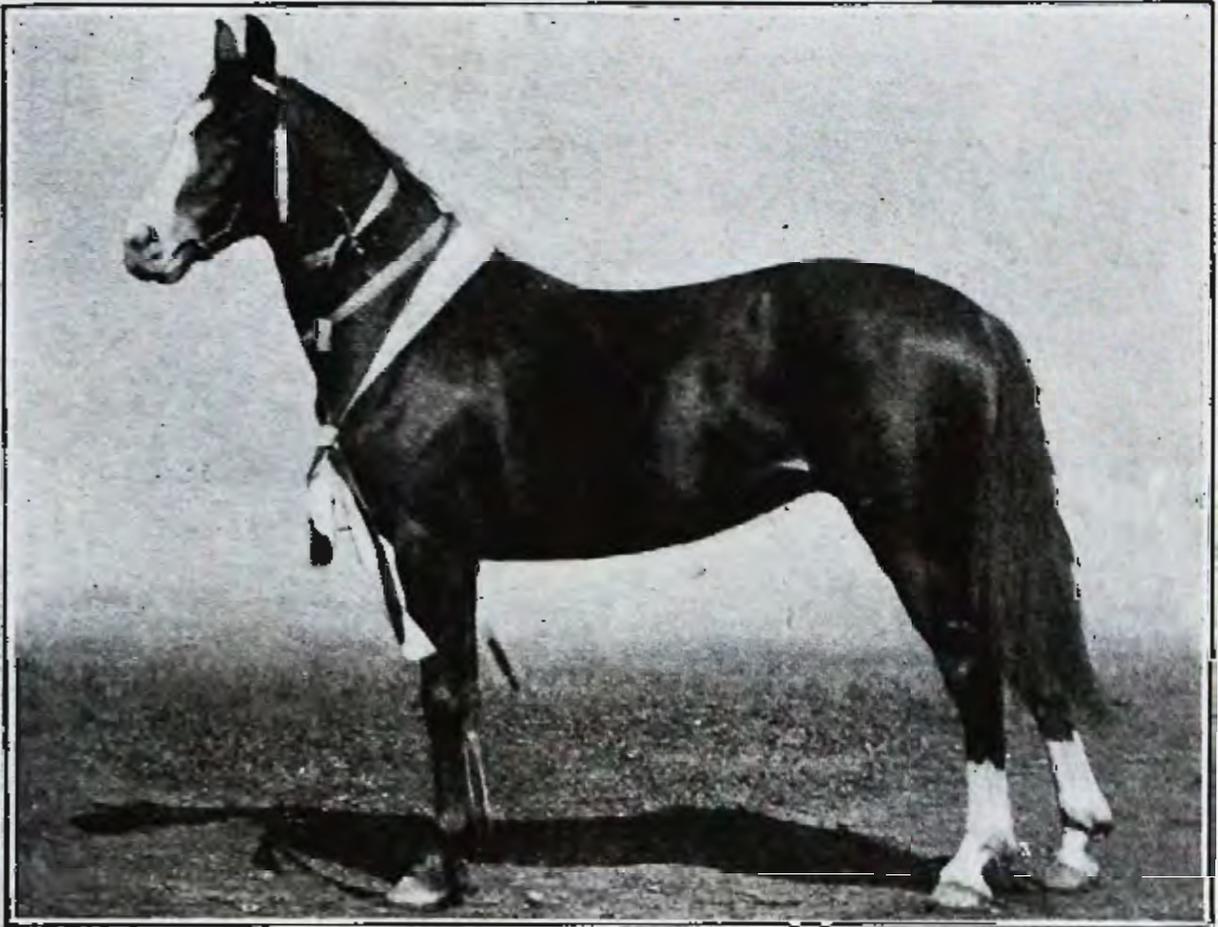

E. Krcrouse, 52 Gatehouse-street, Parkville.

(Complete awards in these Sections will be found on page 27).

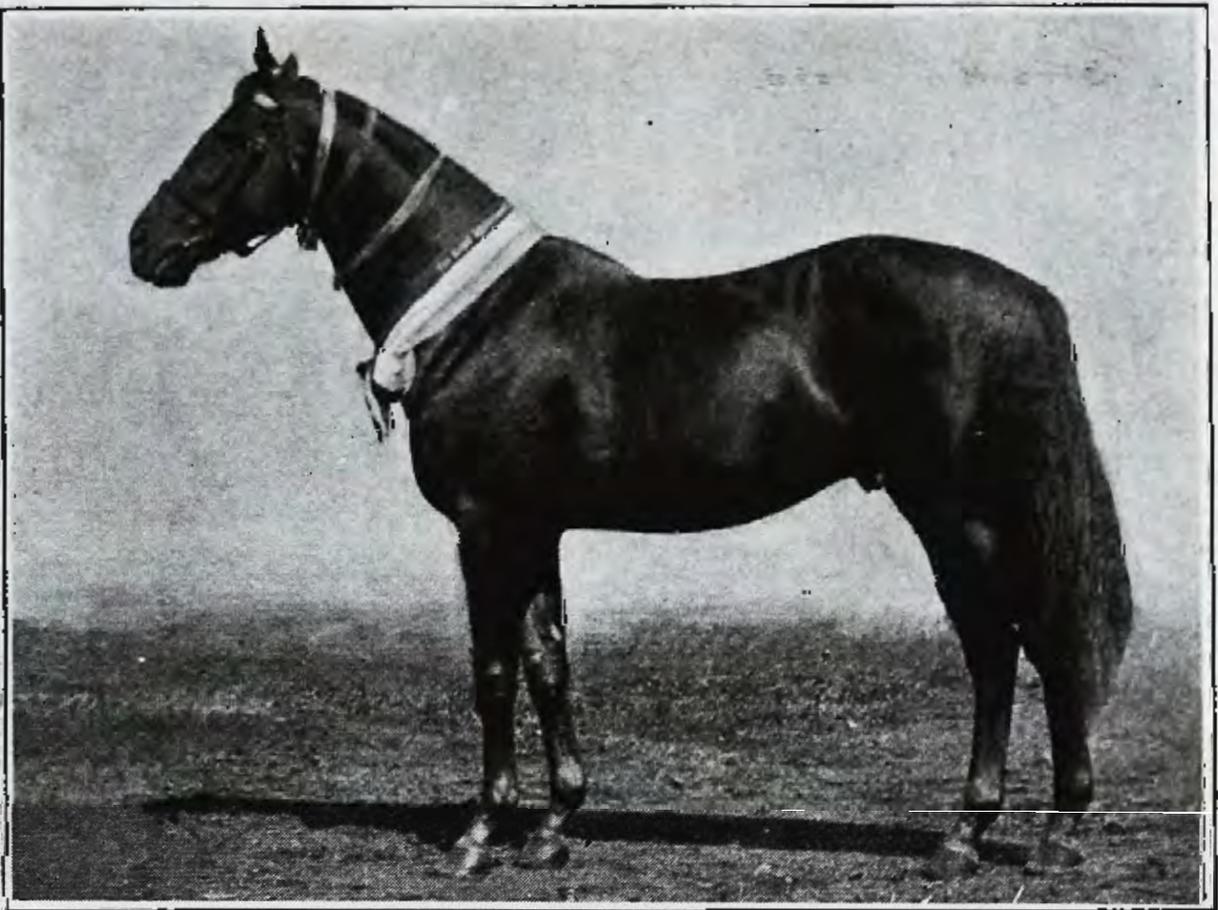

The classes I judged were very limited, both in numbers and quality. "Headwind" was the only competitor for the Defence Department premium. He is well worthy of the prize. He also was an easy first in the open class for thoroughbred stallion.

No Arab stallions were shown, and only two mares. The winner was a rather nice little animal.

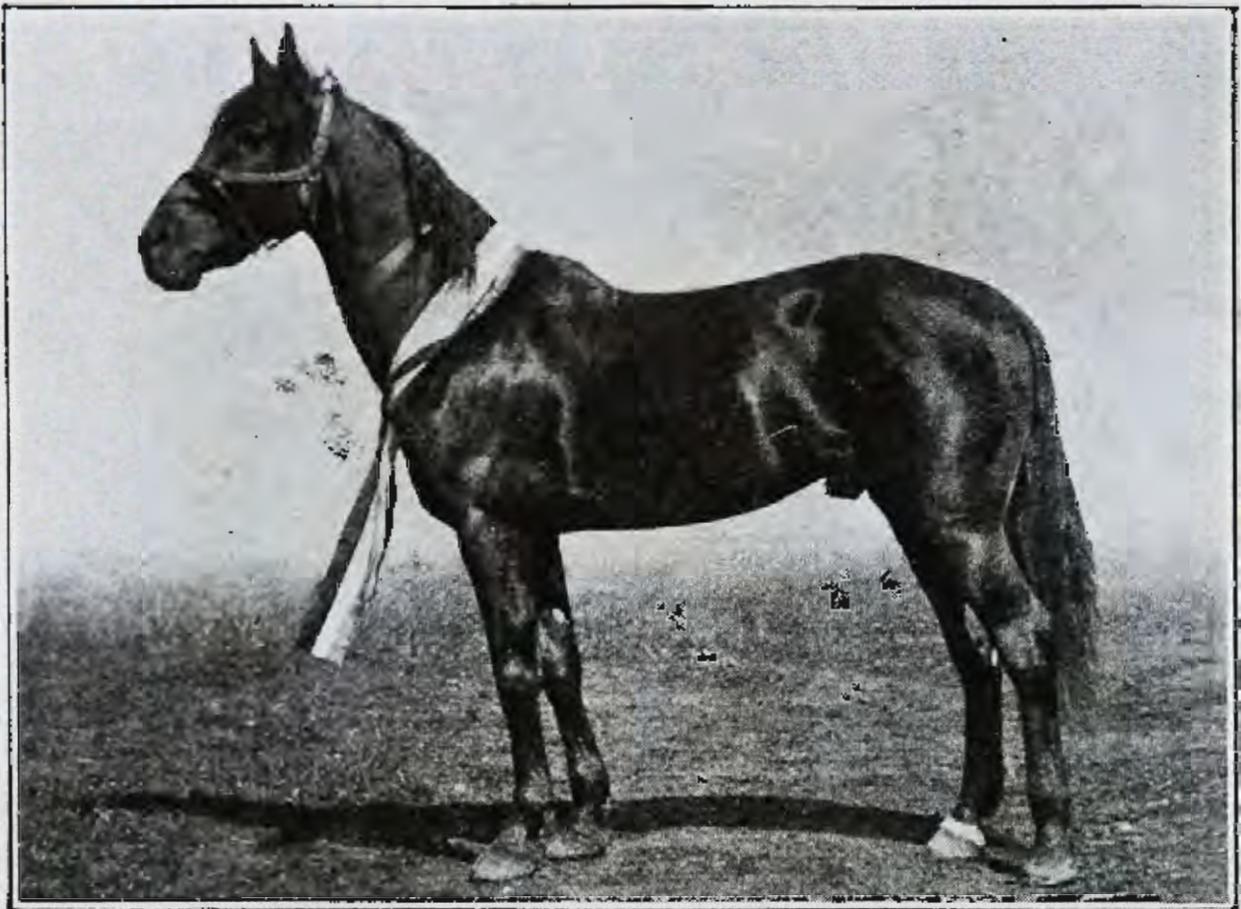

The Cavalry class was very poor indeed, only a second prize being awarded.

TROTTERS.

Mr. D. Taylor, 35 Champion-street, North Williamstown.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 28).

The trotters were poorly represented. The first and champion horse is a very good stamp of a trotter, and shows a lot of quality for speed, style and conformation. He is hard to beat in a show ring. The second prize horse is a very nicely turned horse, good gaited, and shows plenty of speed. The third prize horse is a very nice horse, but did not do himself justice in the ring.

There were no very good brood mares. The first and champion dry mare showed very nice quality, good conformation, and splendid action, as well as possessing fair speed.

The first prize winner in the three-year-old class is a well-grown colt, with good action and conformation.

The first prize and reserve champion two-year-old colt is exceptionally well grown and full of quality. The other young stock was shown in very poor condition.

ROADSTERS, SADDLE HORSES AND PONIES.

Mr. E. D. Selman, Tregathlyn, Lilydale.

(Complete awards in these Sections will be found on page 29).

The saddle horses and ponies at the Royal Show this year were numerous, and absolutely the best lot I have seen in any show yard. The 14-stone hack prize was won easily by the perfectly-made horse, "Wait-and-See," in a class of 13 entries.

The novice 14-stone hack was won by the grey mare, "Maseppa," a very nice quality mare, in a class of 17 entries.

A beautiful bay gelding named "Cooper," showing great style and quality, won easily in a class of 16 entries in the 12-stone novice hack class. This was an exceptionally good class.

I had no hesitation in placing "Denial," with his fine quality, paces, manners and conformation, first in the classes for 12-stone hacks, the ladies' hacks, and the special prize for the best saddle horse in the Show.

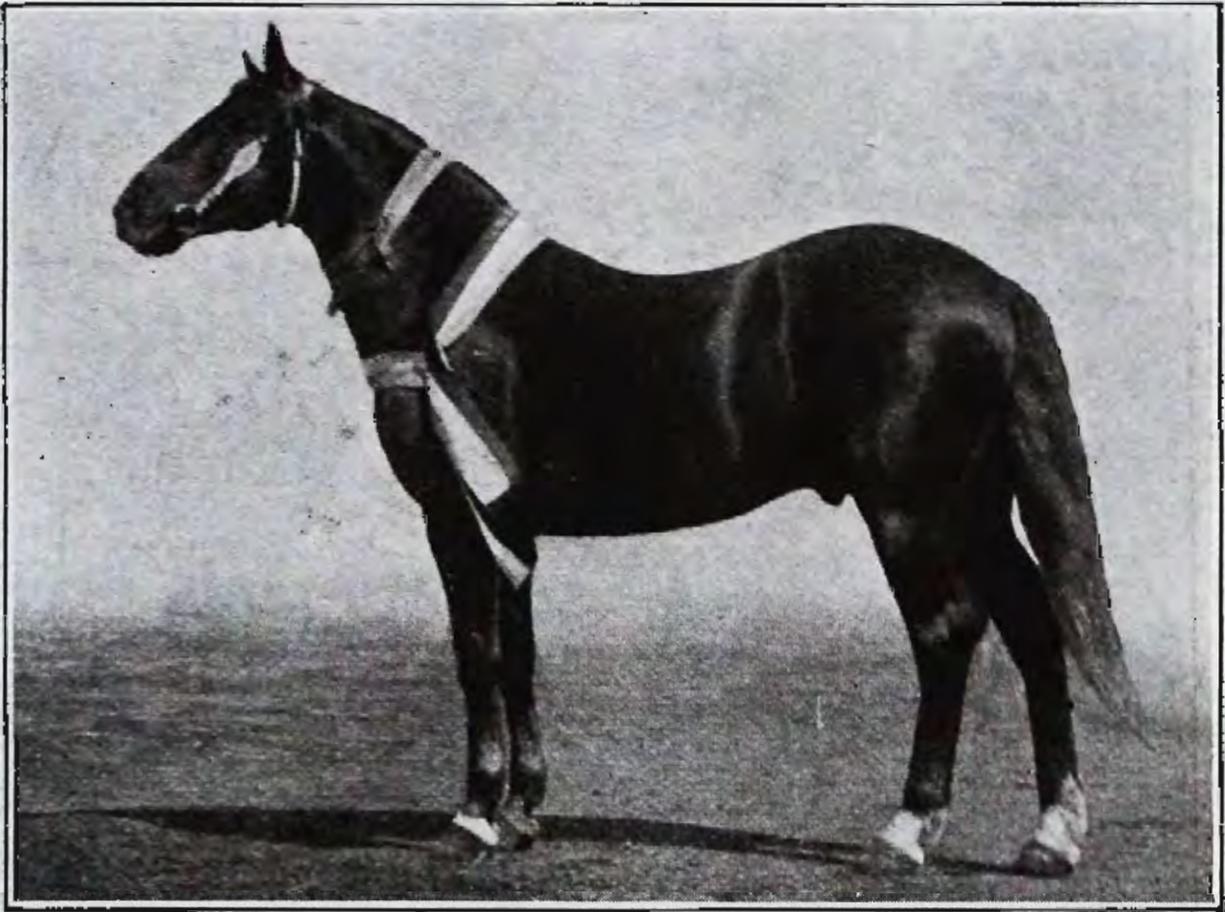

In the 10-stone hacks I placed "Sinai," a black gelding, first in a class of 11 real good horses. He is full of quality, and is a splendid mover.

The novice lady's hack was won by "Manero Boy" in a ring of 22 first class horses. This horse is very showy, with nice style and conformation.

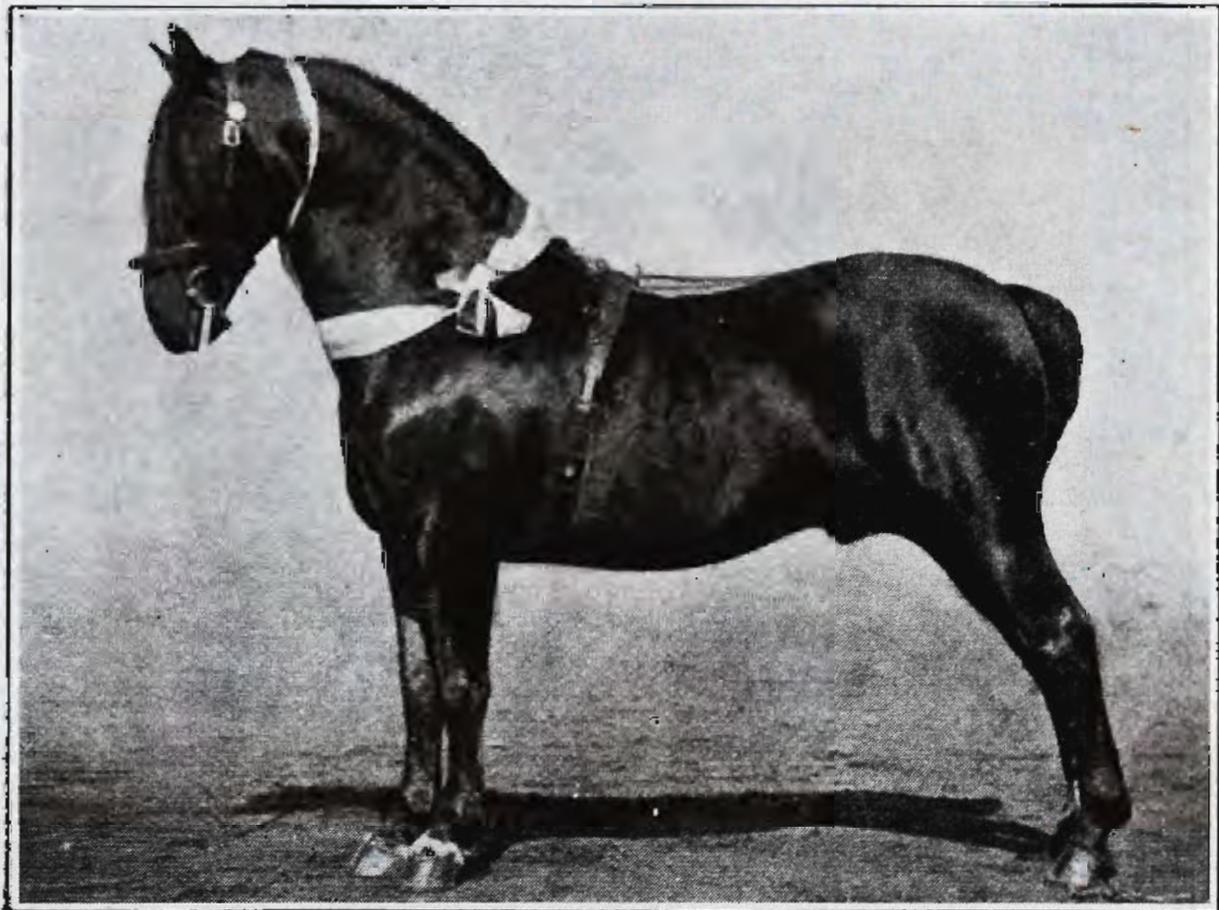

The pair of hacks was a splendid exhibit. I placed "Denial" and "Wait-and-See" first, closely followed by "Cooper" and "Iona," in a class of 10 entries. I consider this class one of the best features of the Show.

Gentlemen's cobs were only fair, with the exception of the roan cob awarded first prize.

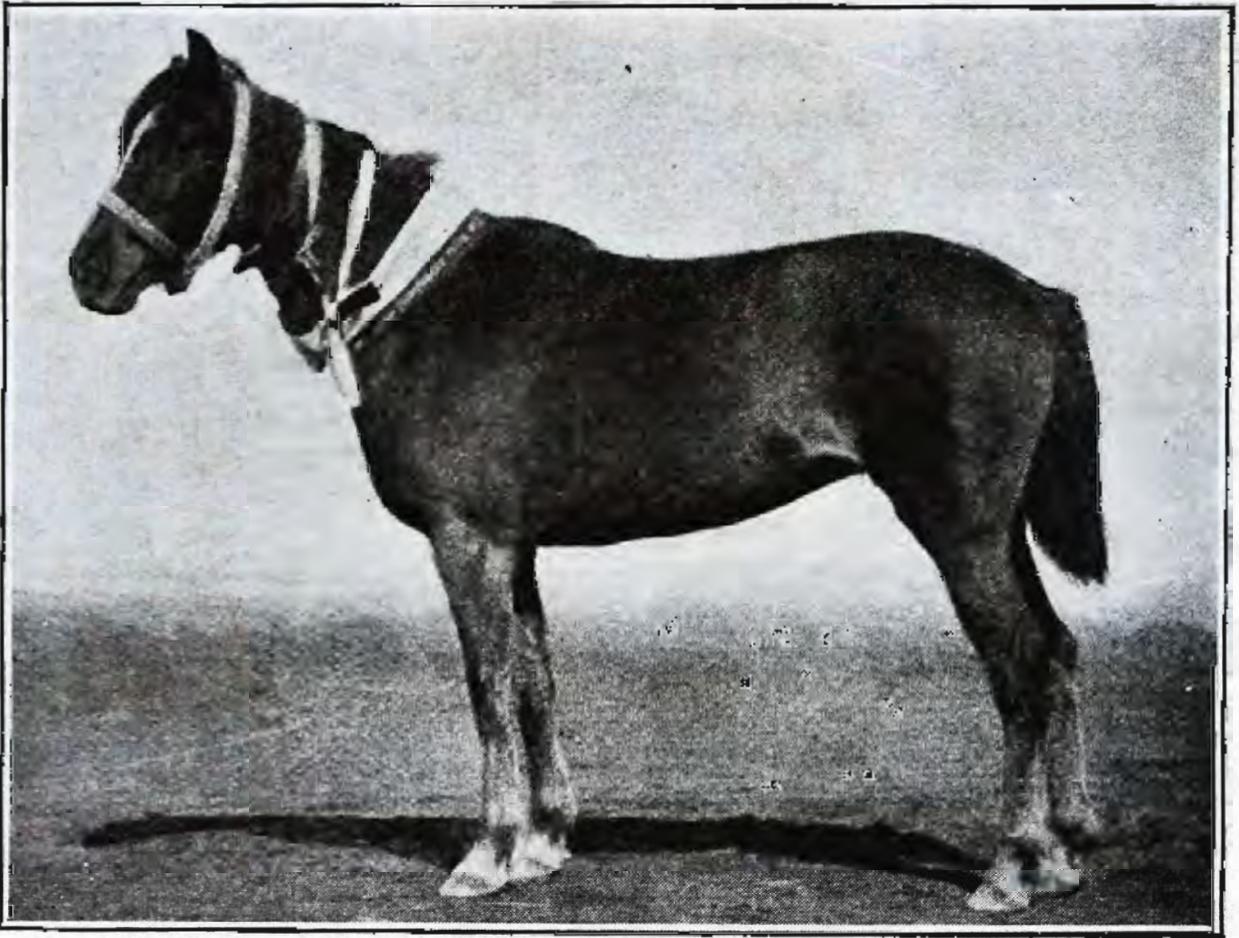

In the pony classes there were a splendid lot a long way above the average, with the exception of the class for polo ponies, where the winner—a cream pony named "Rover"—was the only one shown that was anything approaching the right stamp of a polo pony, and he was an exceptionally good one, and very showy. The ponies deserving special mention are "Top Notch," "Gay Bob," "Venus," "Rover" and "General" (all winners), the last named I awarded the special prize for the best saddle pony in the Show in a class of 23 of the best ponies shown together for many years.

SHORTHORNS.

Mr. J. J. Baylis, "Pranjip Park," Murchison.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 35).

This is the twelfth time I have judged at the Royal Show, and I can affirm without hesitation that I never saw a better lot of females. The males were not so good, though there were many high-class bulls exhibited. As a rule, the numbers exhibited in the different classes were small, but in the yearling heifer class 13 came into the ring. Of these there were eight of superlative merit, and it was a very hard task to decide amongst them. There was very little indeed between the whole of them.

HEREFORDS AND POLLED ANGUS.

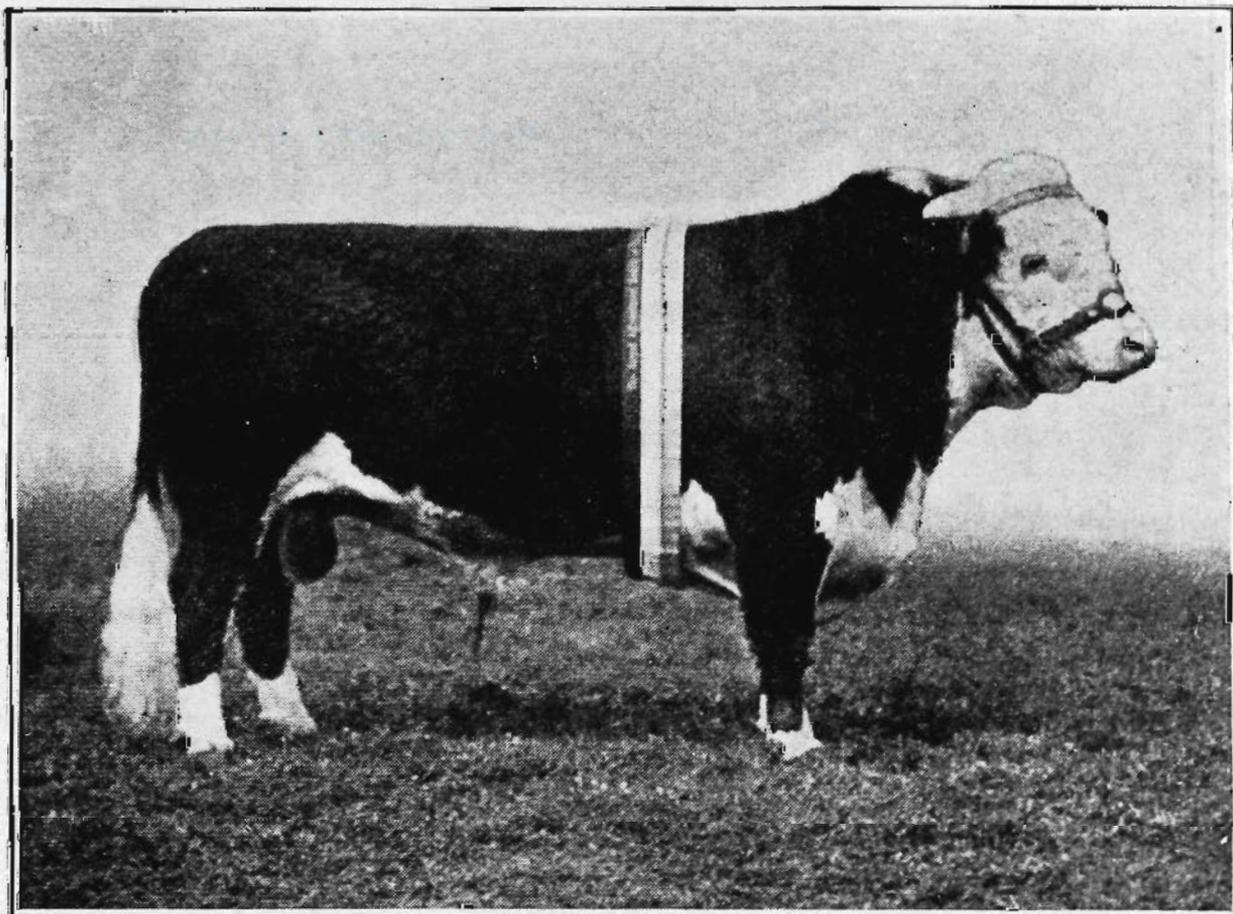

Mr. A. J. Tanner, c/o. Dalgety and Co., Sydney, New South Wales.

(Complete awards in these Sections will be found on page 38).

The Herefords were rather disappointing in numbers, though well represented as regards quality from the leading studs of Victoria. Some of the classes were very disappointing; for instance, in the two-year-old bull class, only one bull came forward, and in the aged bull class there was no entry.

"BRILLIANT BOY" (894). exhibited by Messrs. W. H. Yelland and Sons.

The champion bull came from the three-year-old class, and was shown by W. H. Yelland and Sons. He was a very fine bull, heavily fleshed, good style and character, carrying a good skin, and, I think, stood out far beyond anything else in his class. The second place in the three-year-old class was filled by the Dookie Agricultural College with a bull of massive appearance and heavy flesh, but rather lacking in character.

In the one-year-old class there was the strongest display, a very fine lot of youngsters being paraded. The winner came from Bundoran Estate, and was a very stylish calf. He was a little on the small side, but had such a beautiful skin, and was so wonderfully fleshed, together with good type and underline, that he came out a fairly easy winner. The second bull, bred by J. A. Beattie, was a big, well-grown calf of different type, but should make up into a very nice bull in another year.

Champion Hereford Cow, "Royal" Show, 1920.

"QUEENIE 7th," exhibited by Mr. John A. Beattie.

The females were very strongly represented by J. A. Beattie, who won all the classes where he exhibited. His champion cow, Queenie 7th, is a wonderfully massive cow of the right type, carrying nice coat, plenty of flesh and a good handler. Mr. Beattie was also well represented by the cow second in this class, which secured the reserve championship. She also is a cow of great quality.

In the yearling heifer class Mr. Beattie showed a beautiful heifer by Mansel Propellor (imp). This heifer had the best head of any heifer in the show, and has every appearance of making a very fine cow.

Generally speaking, the most outstanding fault in the Herefords was the tendency to spotted noses. I noticed this fault was very prominent in a lot of the cattle shown, and I think breeders would be wise to give this their attention.

Champion Polled Angus Bull, "Royal" Show, 1920.
"HAYSTON BY JINGO" (imp.) (43,791), exhibited by Mr. Hubert S. Docker.

Champion Polled Angus Cow, "Royal" Show, 1920.
"DULCIE OF MEADOW BANK," exhibited by Messrs. G. Dair and Son.

The Polled Angus were very disappointing in numbers for such a fine breed of beef cattle.

Mr. Docker is to be congratulated on possessing two such fine bulls as those with which he was represented in the class two years and over. The champion bull, Hayston By Jingo, is a very fine specimen of the breed, but was very closely run by the imported bull, Envy of Bywell. He only beat the latter a little in the thigh, which was the deciding factor in giving him the championship.

Messrs. G. Dair and Son showed a very fine cow in their Dulcie of Meadowbank. It is a great pity there were not more entries to make the competition stronger in this section.

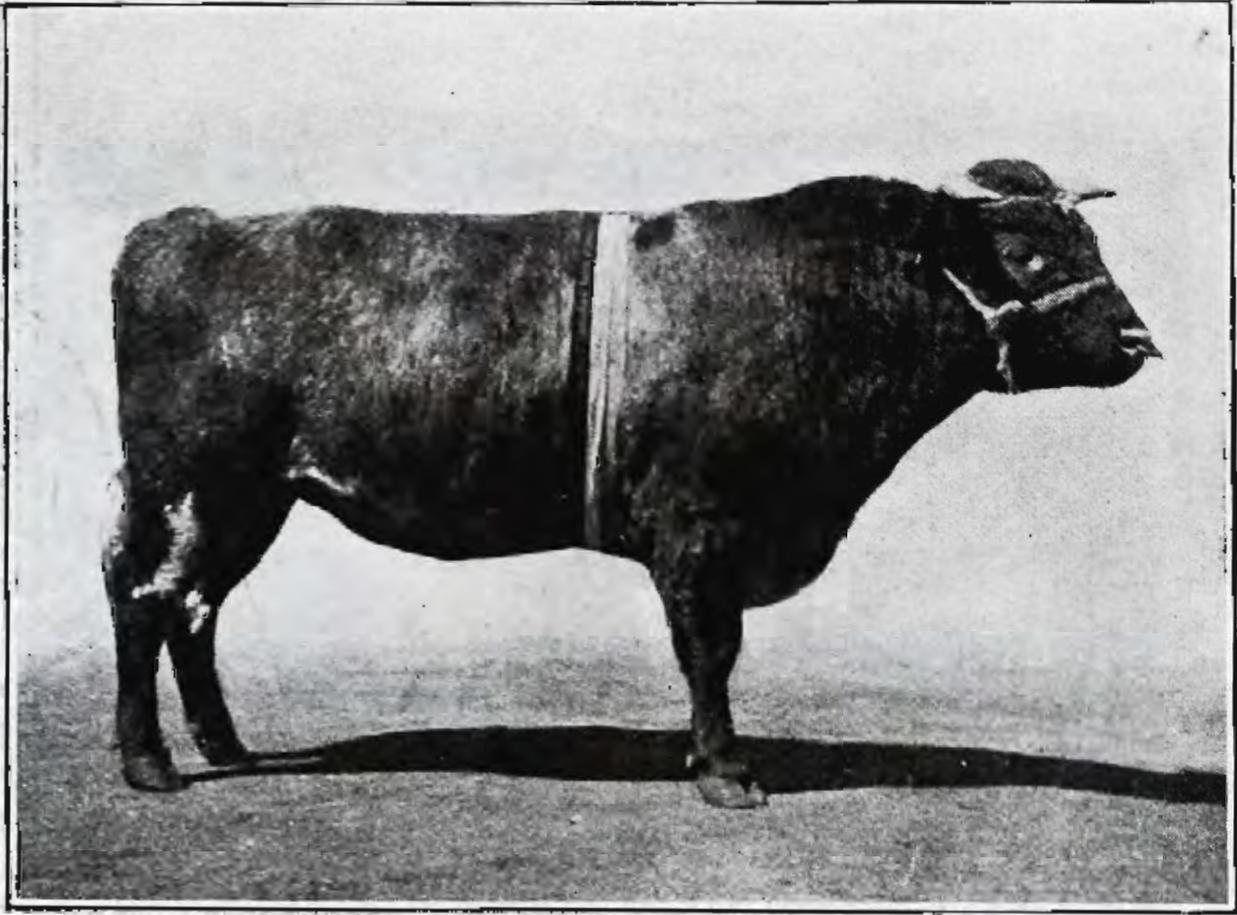

MILKING SHORTHORNS AND RED POLLED.

Mr. R. McCurry, Oaklands, Rochester.

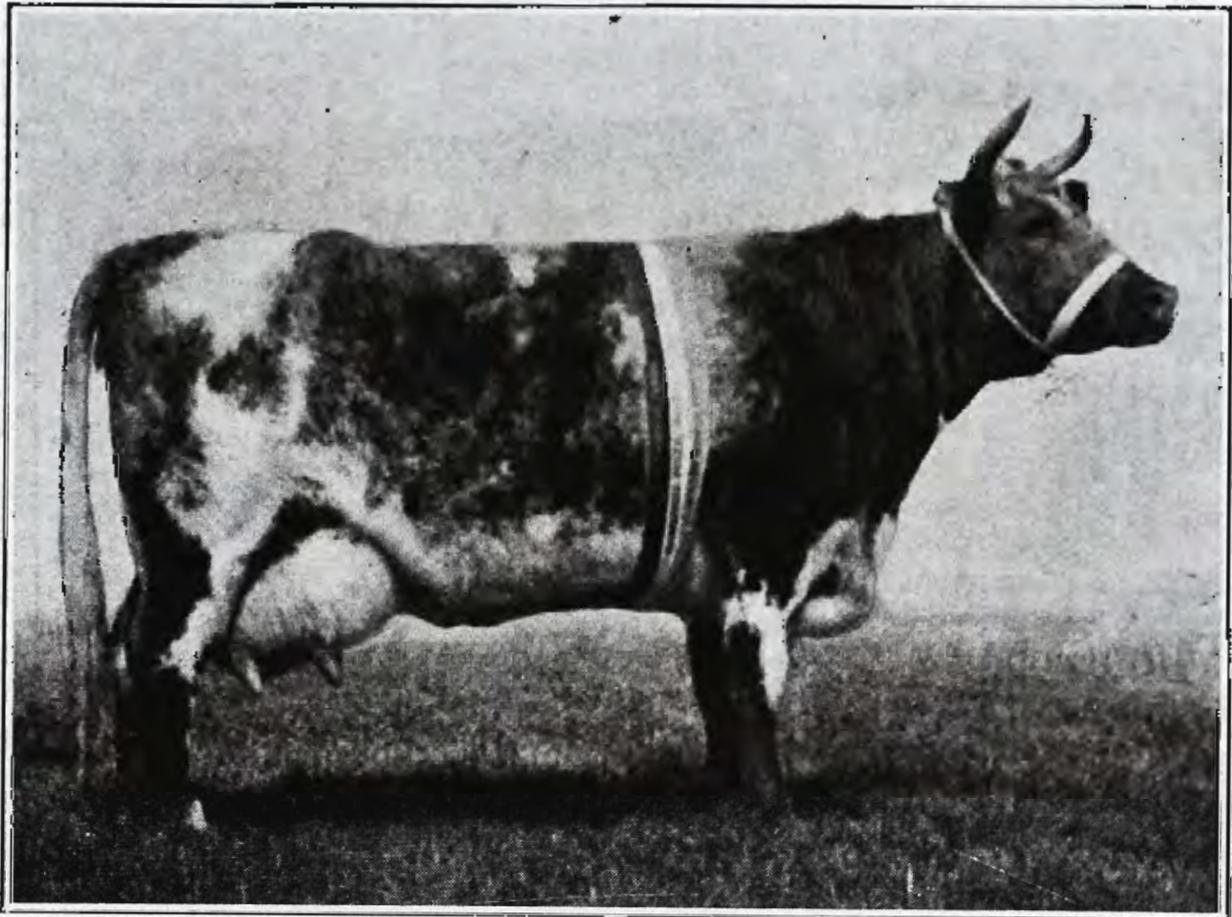

(Complete awards in these Sections will be found on page 40).

In the Milking Shorthorn Section there were some splendid specimens of the breed. A few of the exhibits inclined a little too much to the beef side, and breeders would do well to guard against it, as the Milking Shorthorn must have milking qualities. The champion bull is typical of the breed, showing both milking and beef qualities. The reserve bull is a splendid animal, but a little too heavy in front. The winning two-year-old bull showed great milking qualities, being beautifully quartered and deep in the body, but a little short in the neck and body. The yearling bulls for numbers and quality were the best I have seen in this section at any Royal Show, and reflects great credit on the breeders. The champion cow is thoroughly typical of the breed, showing marvellous milking capacity. She easily stood out on her own, the only fault being her teats, which point out too much, and spoil the appearance of the udder. The reserve champion cow is another splendid specimen of the breed, but beginning to show signs of age. The three, two and one-year-old heifers were excellent animals. The winning yearling heifer will one day be a champion, as she is as near perfection as is possible.

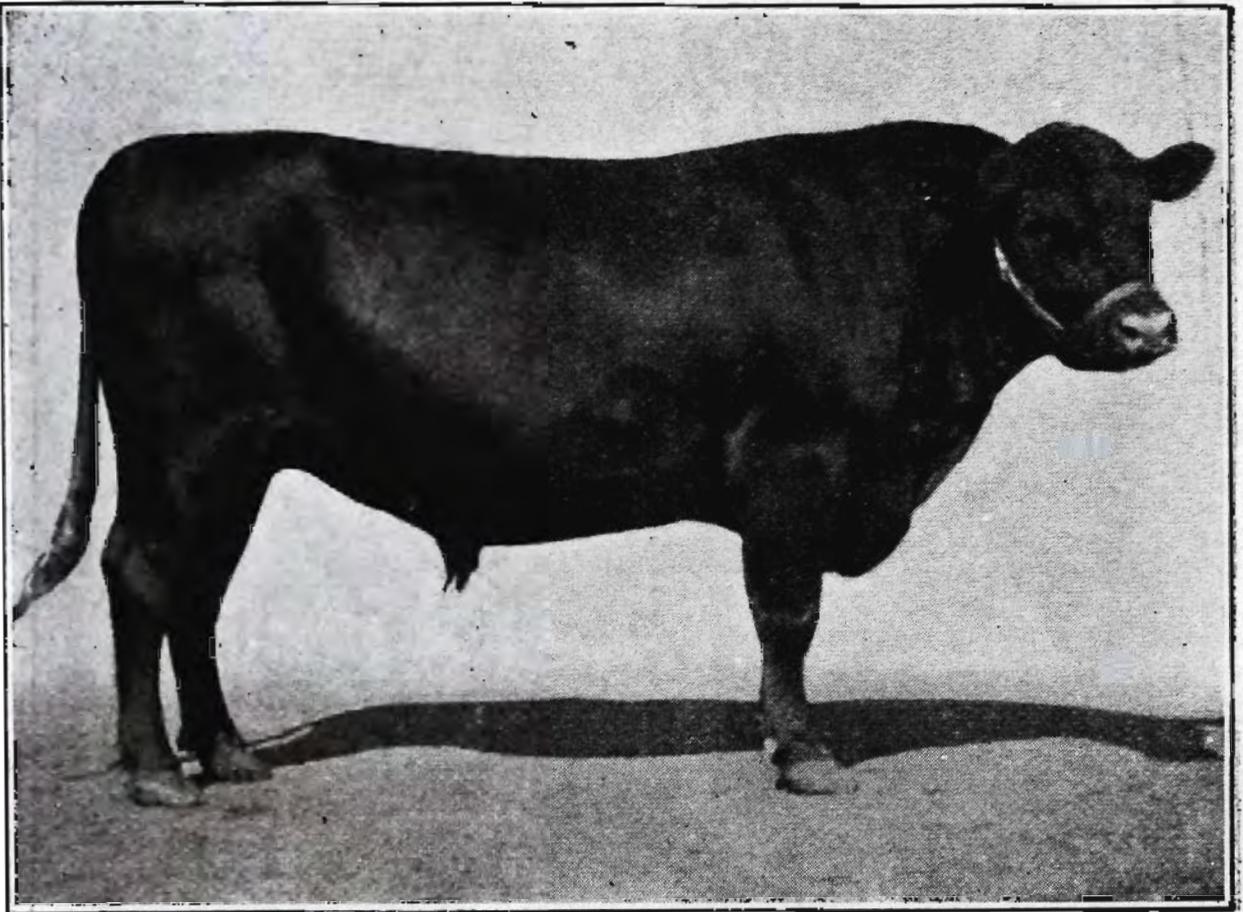

The Red Polls were the finest display of the breed that has ever been seen at the Royal Show. Some extra fine animals were exhibited. The champion bull is an animal with plenty of length, weight, thickness and depth of body, and, as a dual purpose animal, shows great milking qualities. The reserve champion two-year-old bull is thoroughly typical, showing more breeding in the head and shoulders than the older bull, and also better set on his legs. He inclines, however, too much to beef, and lacks the milking qualities of the champion. The champion cow is a typical one of her class. The reserve champion cow, though not showing so much breeding, could not be surpassed as a milker, and had the best milking points of any cow in the section. The three-year-olds were a splendid lot. The winning heifer has a greater depth of body, better carriage, and carries a well-shaped, well-placed vessel. The second prize heifer in this class is a very fine animal. Her colour is perfect, and she shows great breeding, but she is light in body, and walks very badly, as if weak on her legs, otherwise she is a perfect animal, and should she overcome those faults, will be a champion in the near future. The one and two-year-old classes contained splendid specimens of the breed, and the breeders are to be congratulated on their bringing them to such perfection.

AYRSHIRES.

Mr. T. W. Lindsay, "Kembla Park," Unanderra, New South Wales.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 43).

I wish to congratulate the Society on the splendid exhibit of Ayrshire cattle not only in numbers, but also in quality. Amongst the females particularly there was almost an entire absence of a rough tail end, and, on the whole, it was the best exhibit of Ayrshires which I have seen together for some years.

Champion Ayrshire Bull, "Royal" Show, 1920.
"HIS MAJESTY OF WETHERSDANE" (1062), exhibited by Mr. George Keys.

The number of entries in the utility classes caused considerable delays in the judging, as each exhibit had to be allotted points separately. I do not think this is a reasonable competition, as a cow tested, say, six months or more before the show cannot gain the same number of points for her vessel as a cow tested only a few weeks previous to the show; and, therefore, to win, must have a big lead in points for production.

AYRSHIRES.

Mr. E. W. Oliver, Ladybank, Chudleigh, Tasmania.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 43).

On the whole, I consider the Ayrshire cattle a really good lot, and distinctly of the utility class. Small teats and tight vessels were not seen—a defect one often finds in Scotland, and one that Victorian breeders have done well to keep clear of. The champion bull is a really good animal, and one that should beget cows that would "fill the luggy." The reserve bull is certainly a good show bull, but I would not expect him to sire cows up to the standard of the champion. In the younger classes there were some promising bulls. The champion cow was very typical, and carried a wonderful vessel almost perfect in conformation, but still I consider her too small to hustle in a large herd of cows. There were many other good cows that certainly had all the outward signs of big producers. There is no reason in the wide world why type and production should not go together, for an Ayrshire cow should be a producer first and last. The younger classes of heifers were really good, and one might expect to see many of them again.

JERSEYS.

Mr. E. Burton, Wanora, Queensland.

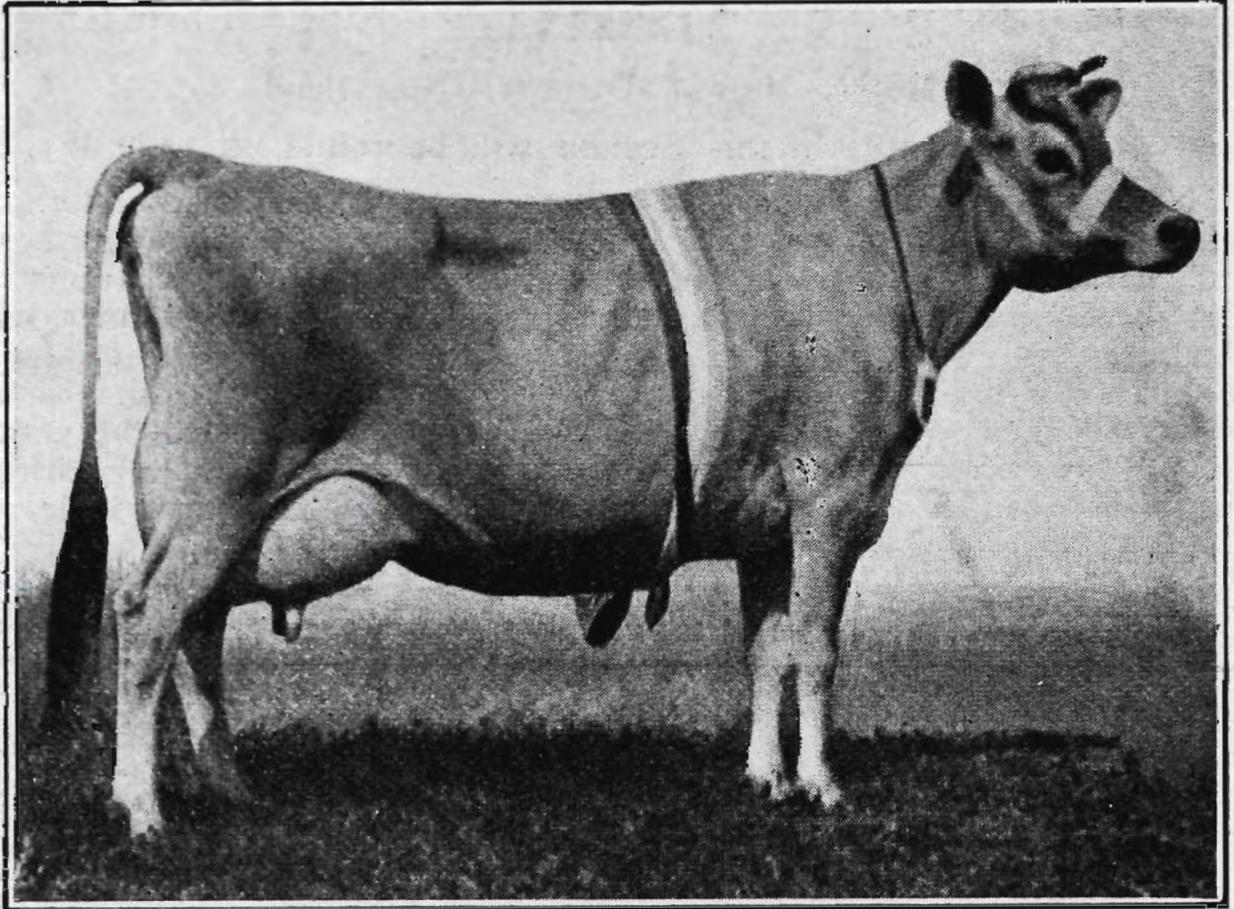

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 46).

The Jersey bulls four years or over were a good, useful lot. The winner, which also gained the championship, stood out as regards type and character of the breed. The others were lacking in this characteristic. The three-year-old bulls were rather a plain lot, except the winner, which should give a good account of himself at future shows. The exhibits in the class for bulls two years old, except the three placed animals, were below Royal Show standard, and the same remark applies to the yearling class. Cows five years or over was a strong class, with very little to choose between the four placed animals, the winner showing a little more type. This cow was also awarded the championship. The cow placed fourth was a little on the coarse side when compared with the three placed cows, but all four were a very fine lot. The first and second exhibits in the dry cow class were very good, the winner standing out on type. The winner in the four-year-old milk class was of the same type as the winner in the aged cow class. The four-year dry was a strong class of good cows, the winner standing right out. The three-year-olds were only fair, but the winner in the two-year-old milk class and most of the dry two-year-olds were very good, as were also the majority of the yearling heifers. I was rather disappointed with the section after judging the beautiful lot four years ago, when I reported on them then as one of the finest collections of Jerseys I had ever judged. Breeders seem to have lost the beautiful island type that their cattle showed then.

(Complete awards in these Sections will be found on page 48).

Whilst judging the Guernseys and Dexter Kerries at the late Royal Show, I was sorry to find that there was no competition at all, there being only one exhibitor in each section. However, the cattle that were exhibited were up to the usual standard, and some very fine animals were shown.

FRIESIANS.

Mr. J. Pritchard, Numba, New South Wales.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 50).

Friesians have improved wonderfully in Victoria, and this year the exhibits provided the best display of the breed that I have ever seen at a Melbourne Royal Show, and I am a regular visitor. The champion bull and cow are, in my opinion, fit to win in any show ring in the Commonwealth. A very pleasing feature was that the young stock showed a lot of quality. In making my award in this section, I adhered to what, in my opinion, is the correct Dutch type, and for this reason a very fine dairy bull of American type was unplaced in the prize list.

"WEEKLY TIMES" BUTTER FAT TEST.

Messrs. P. Rankin Scott and R. T. Archer, Department of Agriculture, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 52).

Although thirteen cows were nominated in this class, only four competed. The competitors included two breeds—three Ayrshires and one Shorthorn, the result of the test being in favour of the Shorthorn cow. As this was the first time a cow of the Shorthorn breed competed, its success created considerable interest amongst breeders of that type. It is therefore anticipated that there will be more cows of that breed competing in future. There was approximately a quarter of a pound of butter fat between each of the first, second and third cows, and half a pound between the third and fourth. Last year the winner—Maggie of Gleneira—gave a yield of 147.3 lbs. of milk, of an average test of 4.12 per cent. of fat, or an average of 2.02 lbs. of fat per day.

"PEARL BEAUTY 2nd,"

This year's winner—Pearl Beauty—gave a yield of 159.7 lbs. of milk, of an average test of 3.61 per cent. of fat, or an average of 1.93 lbs. of fat per day.

There is nothing specially good about this year's results, none of the cows averaging two pounds of fat per day, while in the results under the standard herd test there are a number of cows giving over 3.0 lbs. of fat per day. The tests this year were all low, excepting Given of Ben Kell, whose average was 4.41 per cent. of fat—in our opinion, a good test for an Ayrshire. Yield and quality are necessary to make for good results

FAT CATTLE.

Mr. J. Robertson, the Abattoirs, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 52).

There were only nineteen entries of fat cattle, but the shortage was compensated for by the excellent specimens which were exhibited, being mostly well-bred Shorthorn bullocks. There was only one cow shown.

In the open class for a pair of fat oxen, any age, the winners were Shorthorns, well furnished, very prime, and heavy weighted. In the pair class, any age, bred by exhibitors, the winners were red Shorthorn bullocks. These two bullocks were of exceptional quality, and, considering their heavy weights, they were wonderfully level and evenly fleshed, and entirely free from surplus lumpy fat packed on in patches. For excellence of quality these two bullocks would have been very hard to beat in any show ring. Their respective weights were 1600 and 1430 lbs.

In the class for a pair of fat oxen, under four years of age, bred by exhibitor, the two Shorthorn bullocks that won were exceptionally even fleshed, and very splendid quality. Their respective weights were 1455 and 1415 lbs.

The winner in the fat ox class was a large white Shorthorn, very lengthy and deep, even fleshed, and not over fat. This was a splendid butcher's bullock, with no waste about him. His weight was 1326 lbs.

In my opinion, the pens used for the exhibition of fat cattle are anything but satisfactory for judging, especially where there is close competition.

The quality of the fat cattle this year was first class.

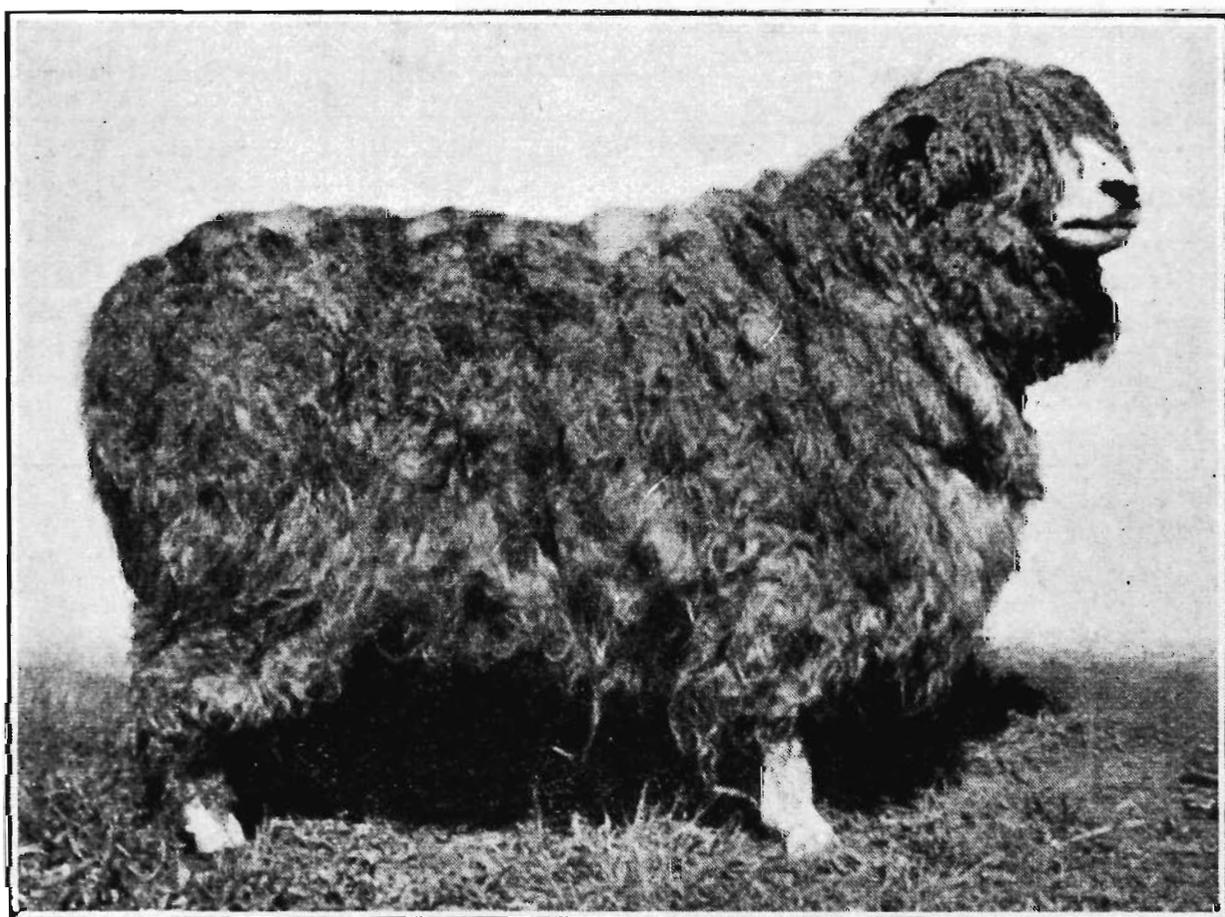

SHEEP.

LINCOLN RAMS.

Mr. P. C. Best, Deloraine, Tasmania.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 53).

The Lincoln rams were not up to the standard of previous years. No doubt the dry season they had passed through was the cause of so many sheep being small and out of condition. Some of them should not have been at the Show at all. It was very evident they were there for sale, and not for show, because the owners must have known they had no possible chance of gaining a prize. Messrs. Richardson Bros.' sheep were in splendid condition, and were a credit to their breeders. They were all fine big sheep, with good bone, heavy broad locks, and good constitution. Messrs. Leishman, Forsyth, Christie and Powling also have some fine sheep there, but the season was against them, and my advice to all the breeders is, now that the coarse wool is not selling, to cull their sheep heavily, and keep nothing but the best, and always remember that on a stud farm it pays to under-stock, and that you will never be near the top in the show or sale if you over-stock. The Lincolns at the present time have many critics. They say we have sacrificed the carcass for wool. That is not a fact; the trouble is that a good many breeders over-stock, and half the time their sheep do not get nearly enough to eat. They compare the Australian Lincolns with the Lincolns in England, but they forget that the English Lincolns are hand fed from the day they are dropped. I know breeders that have imported both ewes and rams from England, and their progeny are no larger than our own, and have not nearly so much wool, and are never seen in the show ring. I admit our Lincolns are not as large as they are in England, but they are just as well made, are quite as strong in constitution, have much better wool, and are certainly more suitable for what 80 per cent. of them are used, viz., to cross with the Merino. Breeders should stick to their Lincolns, for within three years they will be selling better than ever, but should not bring any to the Royal Show unless they have been fed all the time, otherwise criticism will have to be faced.

LINCOLN EWES.

Mr. E. A. Porter, Roxburgh Park, Somerton.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 54).

The class for Lincoln ewe with lamb at foot was a good one, being better than usual, though some of the exhibits were deficient in frame and wanted condition. The first prize taker and reserve champion, though not in condition, was a good ewe.

Champion Lincoln Ewe, "Royal" Show, 1920.

Exhibited by Messrs. G. and A. Leishman.

The three-year-old class contained some good ewes above the usual quality. The ewe placed first had good character wool, with slight faults, but wanted style and shape. The second prize taker had a splendid frame, but was somewhat faulty in fleece. One ewe in this class was a typical Lincoln in everything but size, which was altogether too small to win.

The two-year-old ewes were good. The first ewe, which afterwards secured champion prize, was a good example of what a Lincoln ewe should be. The other prize takers were good, but the rest of the class was not so well grown, and some stood badly.

In the shorn ewe class, I did not award a prize; the only entry did not show the breeding a typical Lincoln should five or six weeks after shearing. It was a pity there was only one entry. The prize for shorn sheep has a useful purpose, and it should be an honour to win in the three-year-old class the year following with the winner in the shorn class. The word "properly" should, I think, be substituted for "closely" in the conditions.

The class for one-year-old ewes was good. They were mostly fairly well grown, but some were light in fleece and plain. The winner was a splendid ewe, showing typical Lincoln wool, constitution, bone and a very square frame, albeit somewhat short in body.

The class for pair of ewes, one year old, was fairly good, but several were not well paired. The first pair was well grown, and carried good Lincoln fleeces of very long staple, but did not stand on the best of legs. The second pair was very good in wool, but deficient in frame and symmetry. Taken as a whole, the ewe classes were pretty well up to Royal Show standard.

ENGLISH LEICESTERS.

Mr. J. H. Fairchild, "St. Arnaud," Park-street, South Yarra.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 55).

I found that the English Leicesters in the aged classes were quite up to the usual standard, but it was noticed that the breeders are not paying enough attention to the rust, which, at any cost, must be got rid of. In the young ram class I found it impossible to give prizes, as they were far below the standard. I consider that the most of them were only brought in for sale purposes, and it is quite time this sort of thing was put down.

BORDER LEICESTERS.

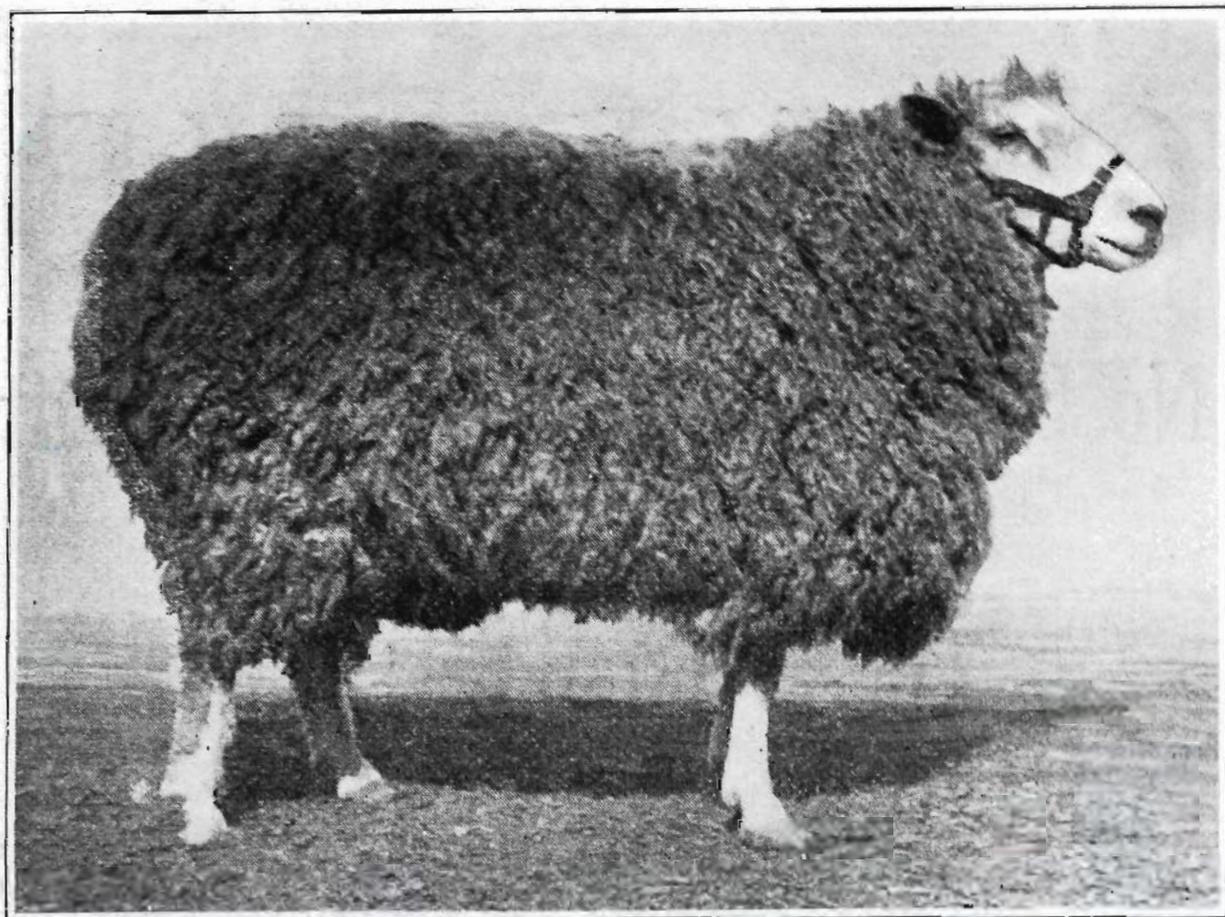

Mr. A. Brunskill, Old Borambola, Wagga Wagga, New South Wales.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 56).

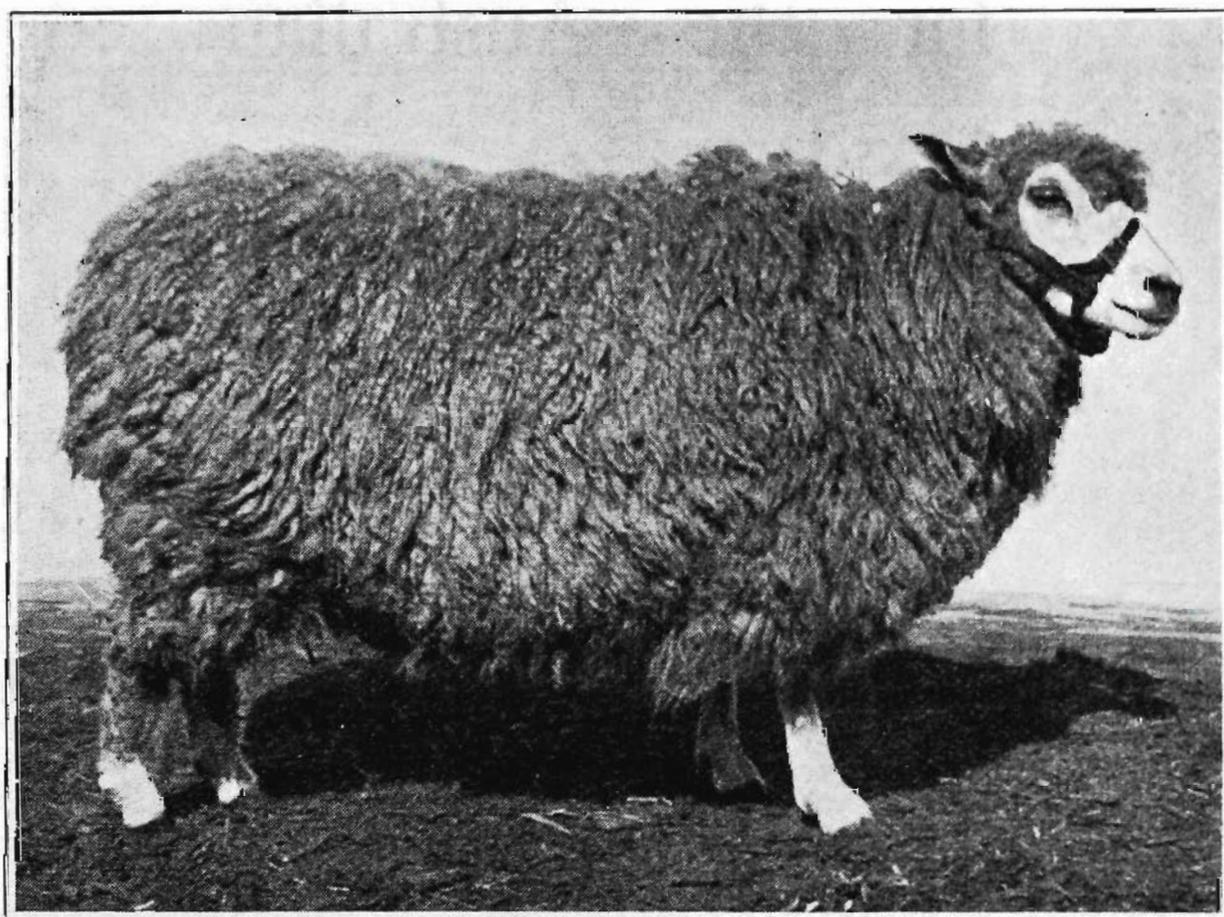

I must congratulate the Society on the very creditable display of Border Leicesters at the recent Royal Show, and am very pleased to see that the Society has encouraged the breeders to bring their flocks to the high standard they have attained. There has been a considerable improvement in the general quality of the sheep since I was last at a Melbourne show. It was noteworthy that all the sheep sent in were from Victoria, which shows that the good qualities of the breed are appreciated amongst the farmers and graziers of the State.

The class for rams, two years old and over, was not a particularly strong one, but the first prize ram, which also gained the championship, was very typical of the breed, being a massive ram, with a good top and bottom line, well-sprung ribs, good scrag, standing well on his legs, and carrying a very even fleece full of character of real Border Leicester type.

The reserve champion ram, which was second in this class, was a very stylish ram, with a good carriage, but not handling quite as well as the champion ram. It also carried a nice even fleece of wool.

Exhibited by Mr. Henry Hodge.

The yearling rams provided a very strong class. The first prize was won by a magnificent sheep, with a bold yet very stylish appearance, and having a real typical head and body well covered with a nice even fleece, and showing plenty of character.

The class for aged ewes was fairly well represented with a particularly good lot of sheep. The first prize went to a very stylish ewe, which later on proved to be a very close runner-up for the championship. Like many of the other sheep, she had a very smart head nicely covered with clean, white, hard hair, and a good dark muzzle. She was evenly woolled throughout with a fleece showing plenty of crimp.

The class for four-tooth ewes, while not quite so well represented, produced some sheep of very fine quality, including one well-grown ewe, which was awarded first prize. This was a very attractive ewe, with a typical Border Leicester ewe's head, and a very nice well-developed frame, with particularly well-sprung ribs, which secured for this ewe the championship. She also carried a nice even type of wool.

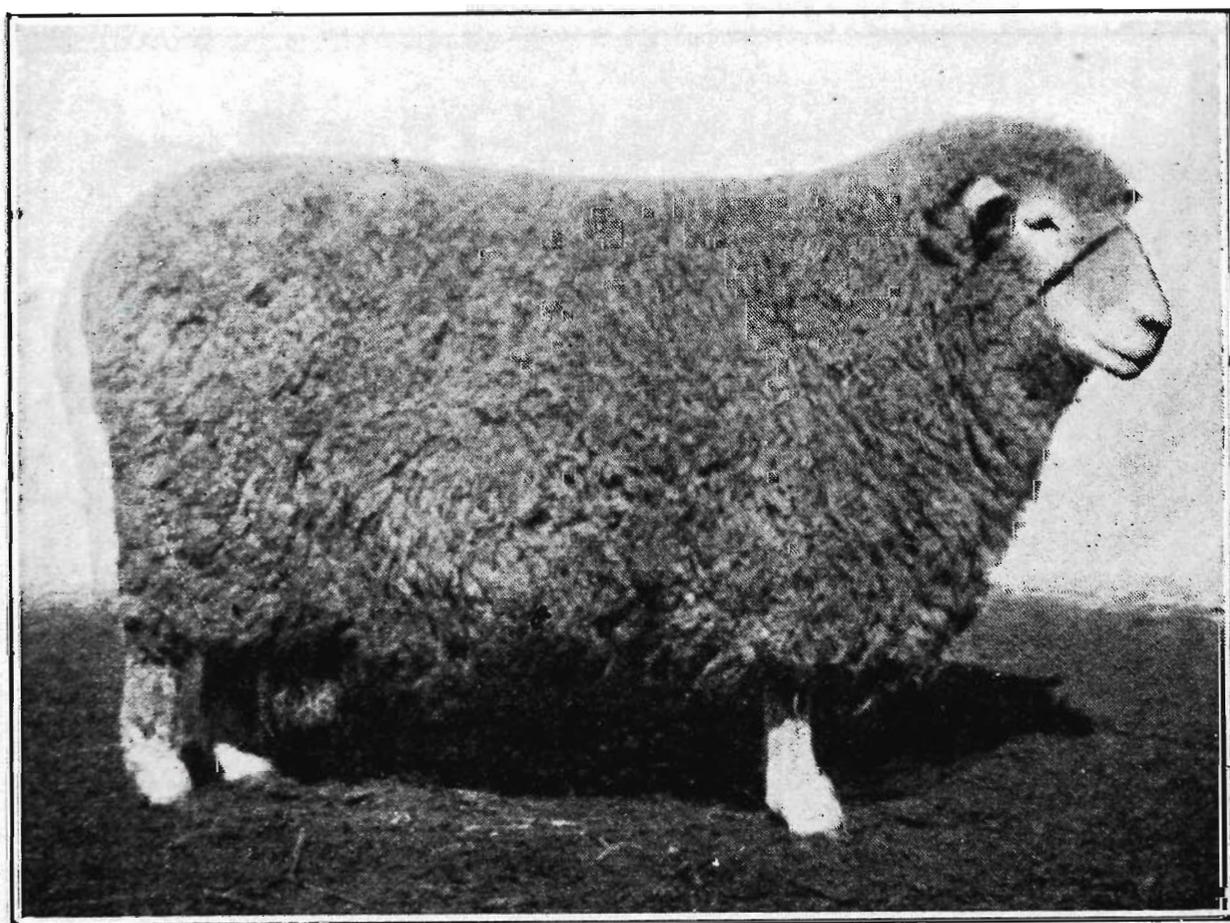

The yearling ewes, like the yearling rams, were a very well-represented class, and brought forward some very nice young sheep. Eventually, the honours went to a nice quality ewe, with a good appearance, and carrying a nice even type of wool, showing plenty of quality.

ROMNEY MARSH:

Mr. R. H. Rose, "Grass Vale," Burekup, Western Australia.

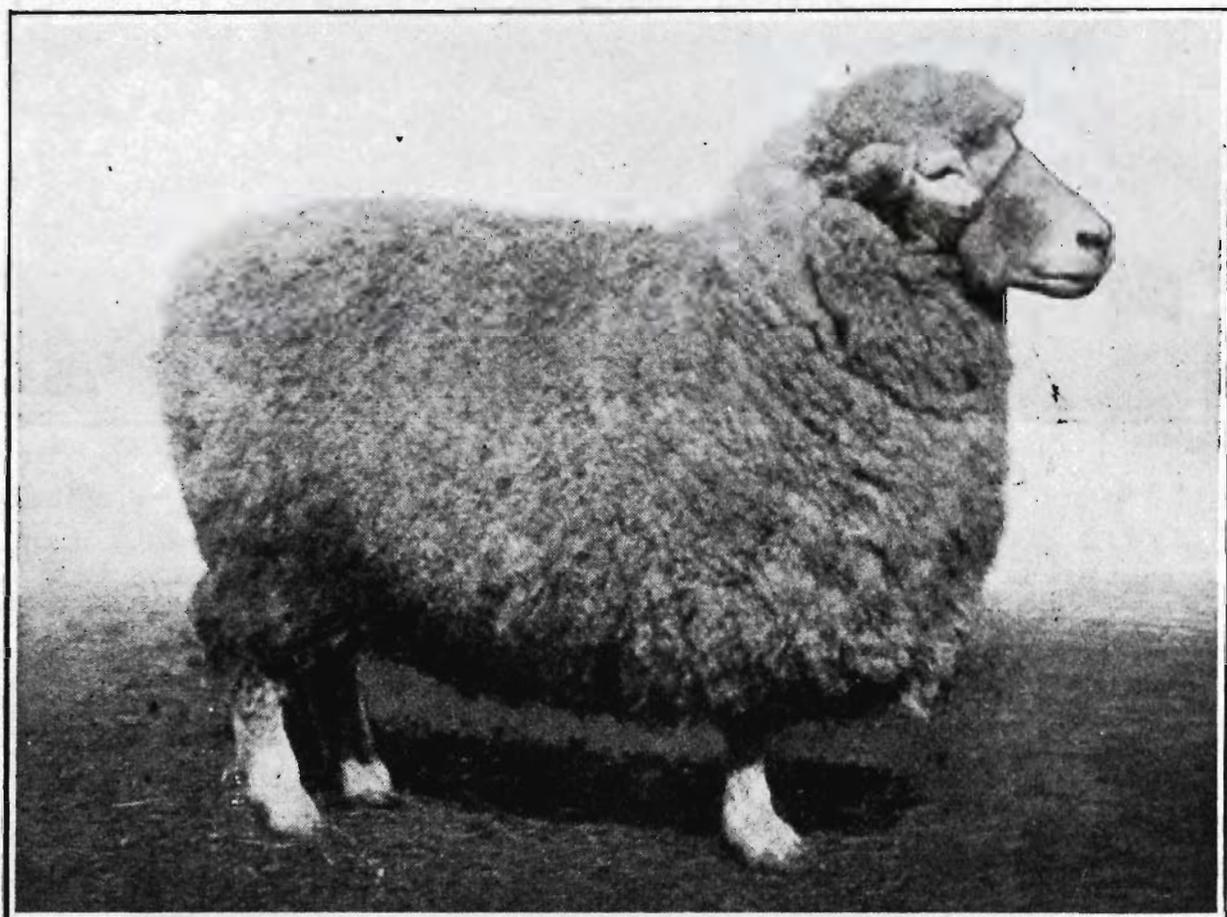

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 58).

The Romney Marsh Section was a very strong one, both as regards numbers and quality. Most of the sheep exhibited were fine specimens of the breed, and competition in most classes was very keen. The champion ram is a beautiful sheep, with a typical head, good bone, and fine carcase of mutton, carrying a true Romney fleece all over. The champion ewe is also a splendid example of the breed. I was very sorry to have had to put down several sheep that I considered had been unfairly shorn. They carried fleeces fully ten inches long, which could not have grown in the time stated by the exhibitor. There is nothing that is going to ruin the breed more effectively than to sacrifice mutton for wool. The hardiness and grand mutton qualities of the breed will quickly disappear if breeders persist in packing wool on to a mutton breed of sheep.

CORRIEDALES.

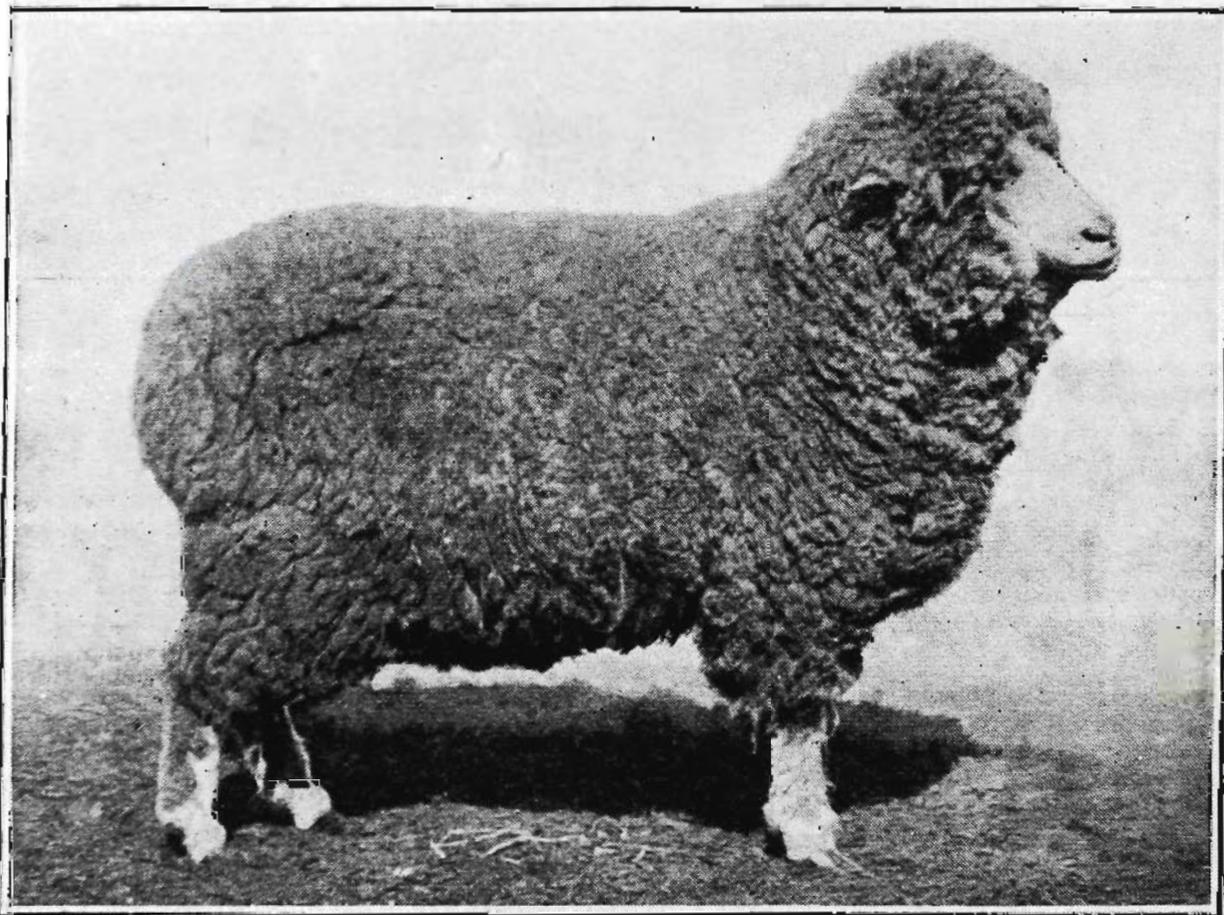

Mr. J. Tilley, "Aringa," Port Fairy.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 60).

After judging the Corriedale sheep at the Show, I explained my reasons to the exhibitors or their representatives who were present. All of them stated their entire satisfaction at the decisions given. The sheep were of a very fine class, and no doubt they are gaining in favour. In my opinion, they will be much sought after owing to the class of wool, the frame of the sheep, and their suitability for any class of country. As a utility sheep they cannot be beaten.

SHROPSHIRES, SOUTHDOWNS, HAMPSHIRES, SUFFOLKS AND DORSET HORNS.

Mr. H. W. Ham, Lara Hills, Lara.

(Complete awards in these Sections will be found on page 61).

The Shropshires lacked the old-time competition from Tasmanian breeders, but nevertheless many nice quality sheep were to be found. One breeder's exhibits were very presentable and creditable, with good square frames beneath the fleece. Some of the other exhibitors sent sheep practically straight from the paddocks. While not so attractive over the pens, many of these possessed breeding, quality and good form.

The Southdown Section was very interesting. This little "all meat" breed was, in the main, pleasing and creditable, nicely got up, with very few secondary sheep. Sheep in the untrimmed classes, however, in all Down breeds, are never so pleasing to the general public when compared with trimmed exhibits.

Several sheep in the Suffolk Section were exceptional. The winning rams possessed great backs and forequarters, which must make these individual sheep invincible as fat lamb getters from any good milking breed of ewe. The other exhibits were useful sheep, but their extreme length of frame was at the expense of width and substance, a very necessary quality, from a breeder's and feeder's point of view, when mating with our Merino-Lincoln crosses for the lamb business.

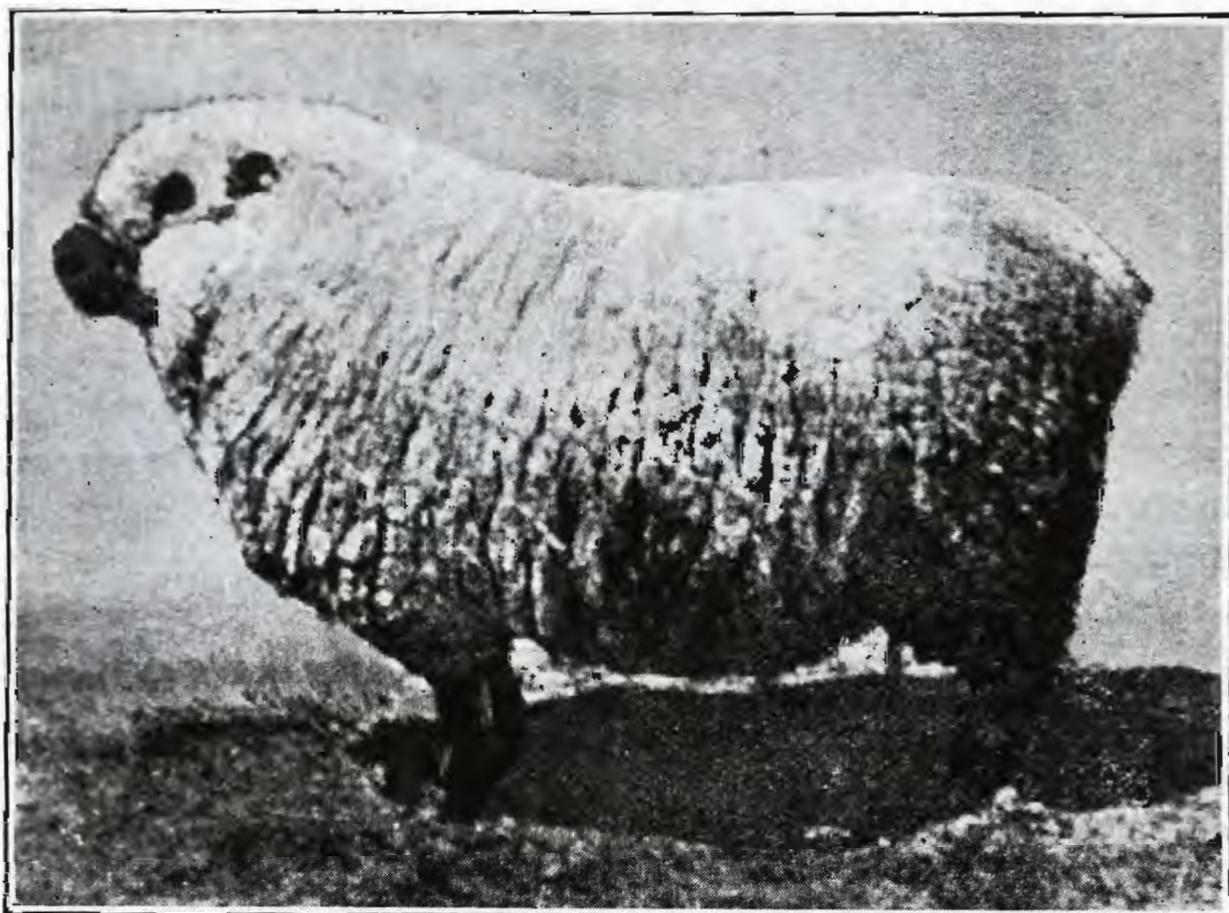

The Dorset Horns were few in number, and apparently from a wet, cold district. They were very typical of the breed, being good level-made sheep, with good fore ends, strong constitutioned, and of a nice handy size for average purposes.

FAT SHEEP.

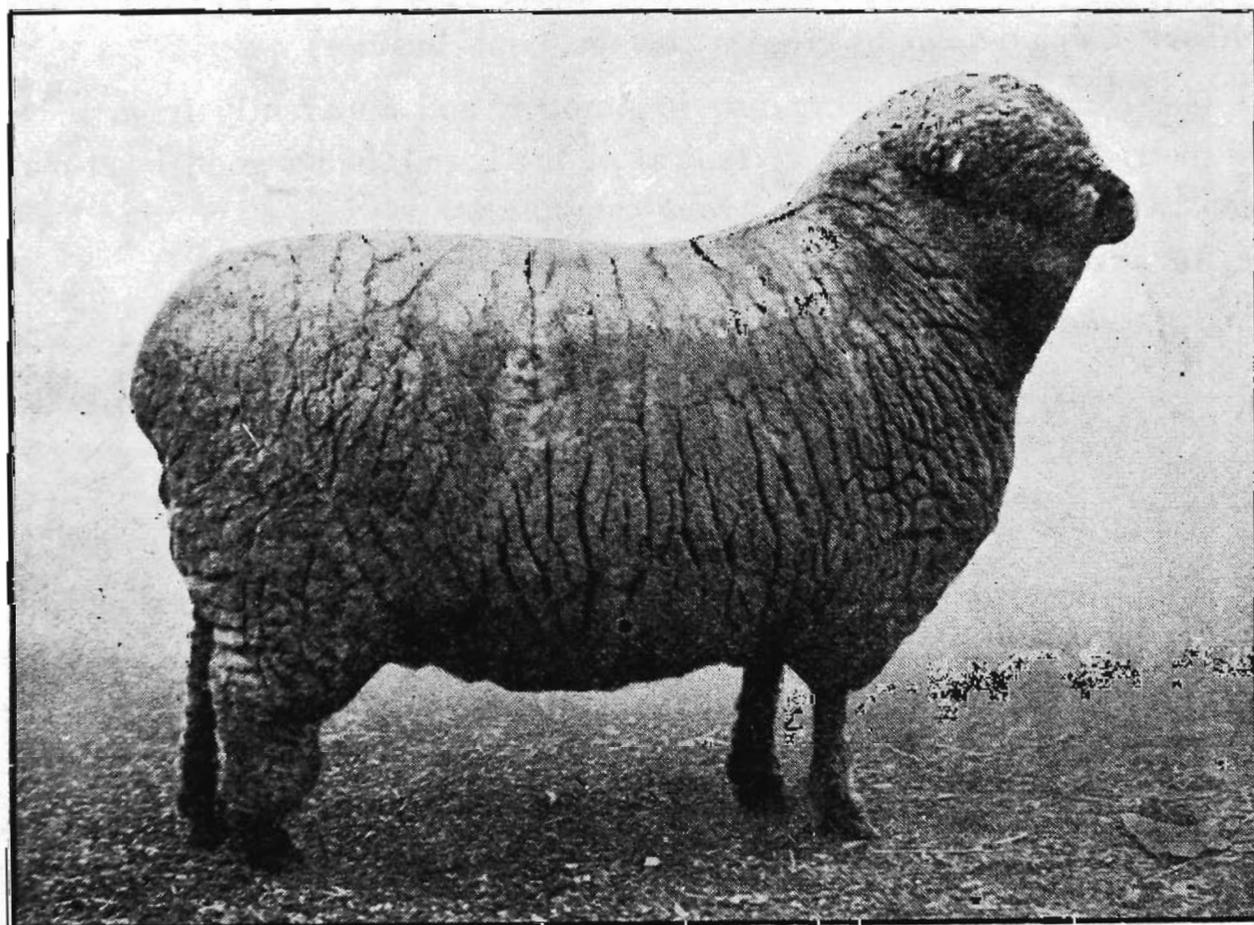

Mr. A. Stevens, 35 Clifton-street, Richmond.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 64).

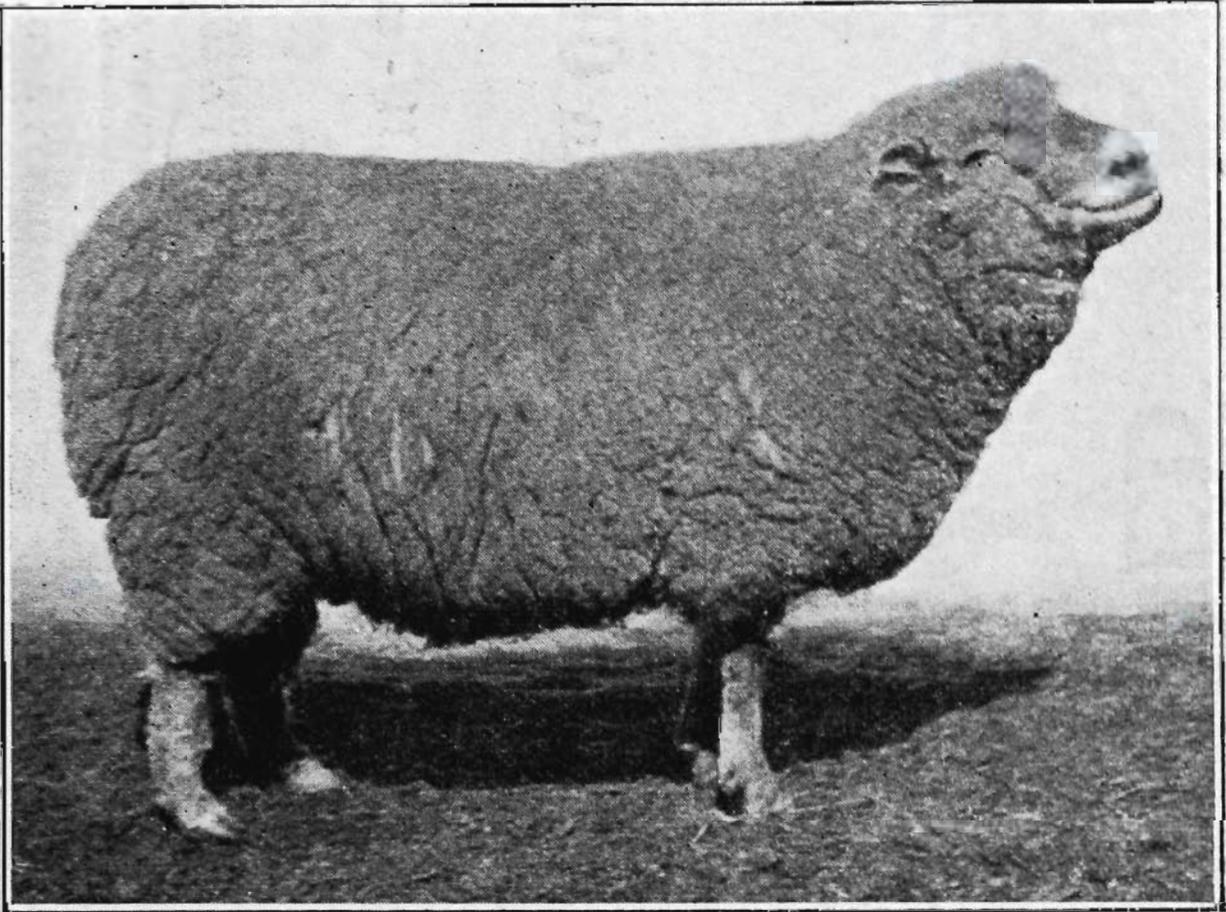

With the exception of two pens of fat Crossbred wethers and two pens of lambs, the balance of the exhibits in the Fat Sheep Section was very disappointing, and much below the standard of previous years. The liberal prizes the Society offers and the prices the first and second prize sheep realised at Newmarket sales (£7 and £7/5/- per head) certainly warrants more competition in this section. May I suggest that instead of describing the ages of sheep as one, two or three years old, the terms two, four or six-tooth be used. It would save any disputes and greatly assist the judge.

FLEECES.

Messrs. F. L. Purnell, 555 Collins-street, Melbourne, and N. Bickford, c/o Victorian Producers' Co-op. Co. Ltd., Collins-street, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 65).

The 1920 exhibit of fleeces was in many respects rather disappointing, owing to the unfavorable conditions of the early part of the season, which, to say the least, were not conducive to the nourishment of the staple. The most disappointing feature in some fleeces was the thinness of staple and chalky appearance, whilst others were of uneven character and lacked lustre. Taking the foregoing into consideration, the results seem very satisfactory from a commercial standpoint, inasmuch that the top value for this year was £3/3/1½ for two fleeces weighing 31lb. 6ozs., as against £3/14/3¼ for the two winning ones of the previous season, the latter being for two exceptionally heavy South Australian fleeces weighing 52lbs. 14ozs.

The open class for Merino Rams' fleeces attracted three exhibits, and represented Victoria only. The first prize was awarded to No. 1955. One fleece showed good length and style, but the second fleece of the same exhibit could have shown more bulk. The weight was 31lbs. 6ozs., and the total value £3/3/1½. The second prize in the same class went to No. 1957, and these fleeces, though of very good length, were rather irregular in style.

The open class for Merino Ewes had exhibits from only the same number of growers as that of the rams, the former again being from Victoria. The first prize was awarded to No. 1960 for two excellent style fleeces, 64's/70's quality, weighing 23lbs. 5ozs., and valued at £2/5/7¼.

For the most valuable ram's fleece, and the most valuable Merino ewe's fleece, grown by an owner of less than 3,000 sheep, there were unfortunately no entries, no doubt due to the severe conditions experienced by smaller growers during the drought period.

For the two most valuable Lincoln rams' fleeces, there were but three entries, and these were representative of one district only. The first prize was allotted to No. 1963, the total weight being 45lbs. 11ozs. for two well grown, very stylish and bulky fleeces, of a total value of £2/6/10¾.

The prize winner in the most valuable ewe class was No. 1964, being the same owner as in the ram fleece, but unfortunately only one exhibit was entered in this class. The fleeces left a good deal to be desired, and could have shown more style and bulk. The total weight was 27lbs., and valued at £1/9/8¾.

No English Leicester fleeces were shown.

The class for the most valuable Border Leicester ram's fleece seemed to be more popular among growers, inasmuch that there were five entries in this class, the first prize being awarded to No. 1966, with a value of £1/16/6½, and a total weight of 33lbs. 4ozs. The appearance of the wool and the fleeces showed only fair length and style.

The first prize for the most valuable Border Leicester ewe fleece was won by No. 1971. The total value amounted to £1/15/0¾, the weight being 28lbs. 7ozs. These fleeces were very stylish, bulky and soft handling, and showed very good length.

In the class for the two most valuable Romney rams' fleeces there were only two exhibits, both of these belonging to the same owner. The first prize was awarded to No. 1975, the value being £2/1/10, with a total weight of 35lbs. 1oz. The wool was well grown and soft handling.

In the class for the two most valuable Romney ewe fleeces, there were again only two exhibits, from the same owner, as in the preceding class. No. 1976 was awarded first prize for two well-grown fleeces of good color, with a total weight of 28lbs. 11ozs., the value being £1/17/10½.

In the most valuable Shropshire ram and ewe classes, there was only one exhibit in each respectively, and these were the property of the same owner. The ram's fleece was valued at £1/9/6, for a total weight of 23lbs. 4ozs. The wool was of fair length, but could have shown a little more style; and in the ewe's class the exhibit was a poor one, the wool being short for quality. The value of the ewe fleece was £1/1/2½, and the weight 17lbs. 12ozs.

The class for the most valuable Down ram fleece other than Shropshire interested two growers only, the first prize being won by a margin of 6½d. only, the winning exhibit being No. 1980. These fleeces were somewhat irregular. Fleece No. 1 in the exhibit was rather short for quality, while the second one showed good length and light condition. The value was £1/1/6¾, and the total weight 16lbs. 7ozs.

The most valuable Down ewe fleece other than Shropshire was only represented by the same two growers as those in the ram class. The first prize, was allotted to No. 1983, for two well-grown, light and stylish fleeces, valued at £1/1/1¼, and weighing 14lbs. 12ozs.

In the open class for the two most valuable Crossbred ewe and wether fleeces, two growers exhibited, but at the last moment one of these withdrew on account of his exhibit having miscarried. The prize was therefore awarded to No. 1984, being the remaining exhibit in the class. The wool was of good color, well-grown, and sound, but carried a good deal of burr. The total value was £1/13/3½, the total weight being 26lbs. 15ozs.

For the two most valuable Crossbred ewe and wether fleeces grown by an owner of less than 3,000 sheep, four growers exhibited. The first prize was awarded to No. 1986. These two fleeces were of excellent length and style, and dry in condition, but showed a little burr. The total value was £1/13/6, and the weight was 26lbs. 15ozs.

SKINS.

Mr. J. Kitson, c/o Goldsbrough, Mort & Co., Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 65).

The skins judged by me were very limited in number, there being only two exhibits in each class, and apparently these exhibits were entered by one person.

The skins showed great credit to the exhibitor, every care having been exercised in taking the skin off. It could not be expected that butchers would exercise the same care in taking off skins, owing to the time required, but if they could be persuaded to take more care, a considerable amount of money would be saved thereby.

SWINE.

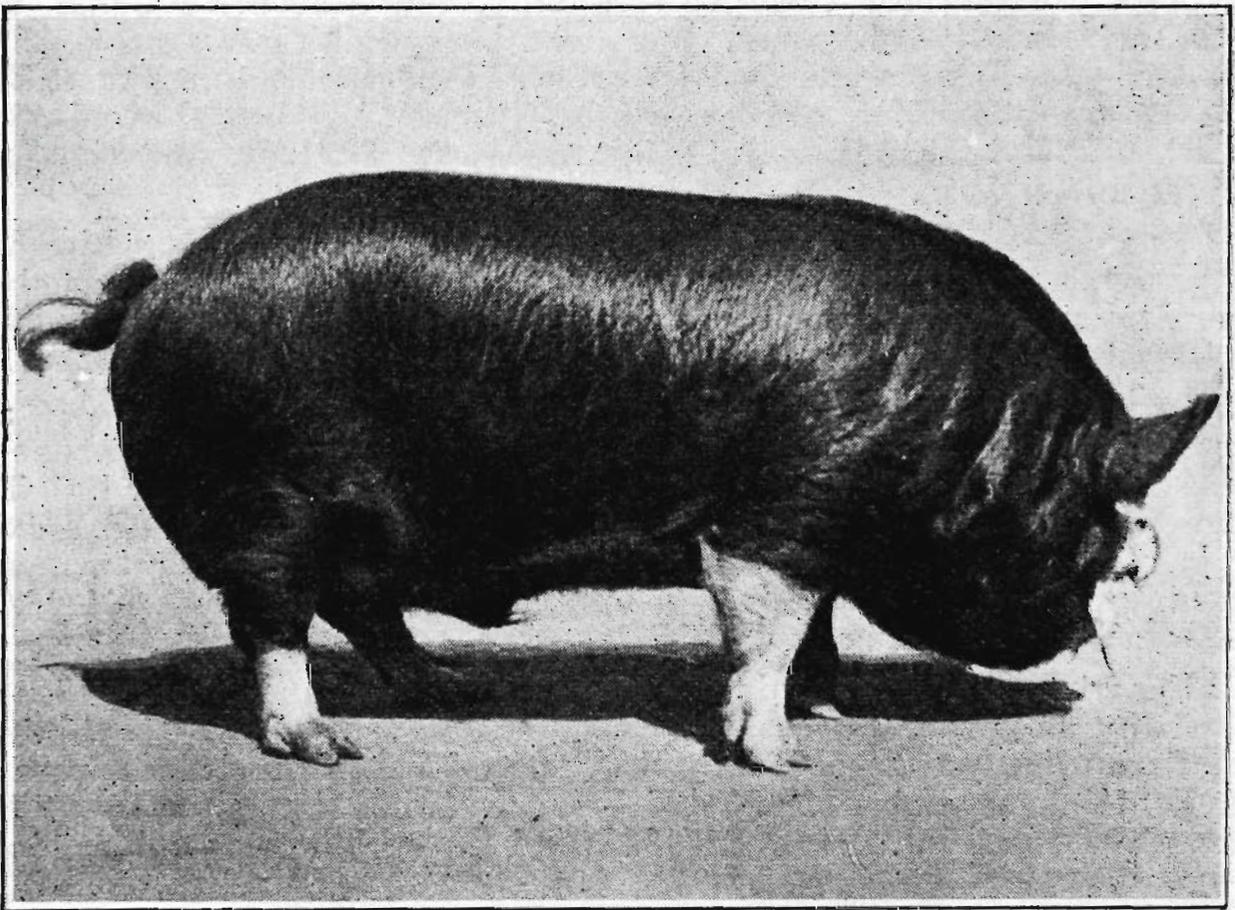

BERKSHIRES, BRITISH LARGE BLACKS AND POLAND CHINA PIGS.

Mr. Luke Williams, "Claremont," Moonah, Hobart, Tasmania.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 66).

Taken as a whole the Berkshires exhibited were quite equal in quality to previous shows.

There was a "tail," but it was not as long as usual. This "tail" could be further shortened if breeders were allowed to enter their best got-up pigs for competition, and the other for the Show Sale only. This Show being the annual meeting place for breeders, buyers and sellers, I would strongly recommend this point to the Society for consideration in the interests of the industry generally.

Champion Berkshire Boar, "Royal" Show, 1920.

"RENROW STAR" (3293), exhibited by Messrs. Worner Bros.

The Boar class, 15 months and over, brought forward 11 exhibits, some being really high-class. The first prize and Reserve Champion was a massive animal of good quality, but his great weight had affected his front feet. The second and third prizes went to good pigs.

The under 15 months and over 6 months class produced the champion, a well-grown 10 months' old boar of good quality. The other prize winners were good typical pigs, and deserved their awards.

The under 6 months was the strongest boar class, with 35 entries. The first prize winner was an exceptionally well-grown, well-marked and evenly balanced pig, 5 months and 5 days old. He obtained 97 points out of a possible 100, but I considered him too young to be eligible for the championship.

The sows were very superior, but, with the exception of the prize winners, the litters were not up to the usual standard. The first prize sow, with a litter of 7, also won the championship, although her coat was uneven through her having apparently been over-heated and scratching. Nevertheless she stood clearly out from all opponents. I afterwards learned that this sow was awarded the championship by me in 1917.

Champion Berkshire Sow, "Royal" Show, 1920.
 "PENDENNIS AGNES" (1418), exhibited by Mr. W. H. Thomas.

The dry sows over 15 months were high grade animals, the prize winners being especially so, as were also the under 15 months sows.

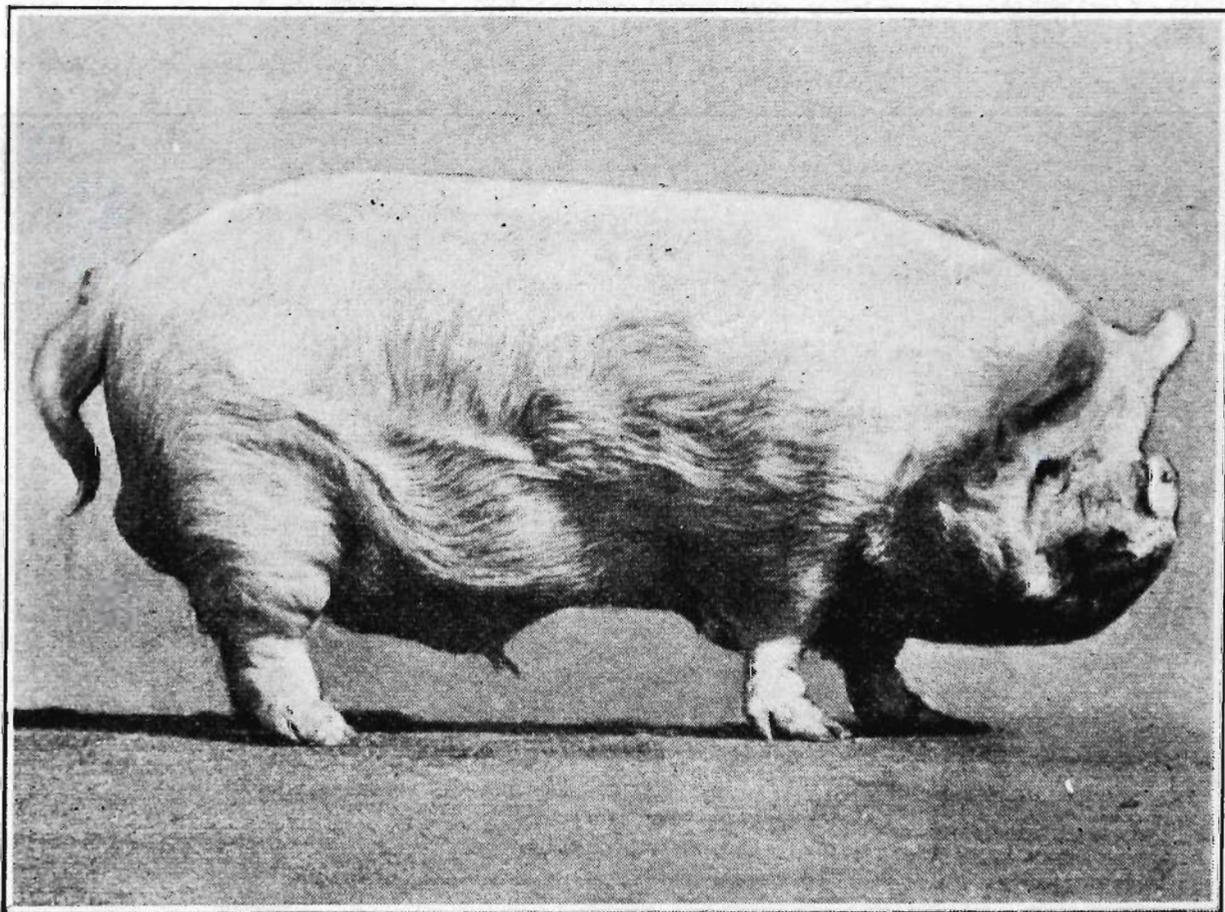

The under 6 months class had 39 entries. The winner is a long, even-bodied sow, 3 months old on judging day. Her head was somewhat plain, but otherwise she was faultless. The second prize sow was exceptionally large for 5 months, 21 days—a really splendid sow, but over fat. The third prize sow was of high quality. There were no entries in British Large Blacks or Poland Chinas.

YORKSHIRES AND TAMWORTHS.

Mr. D. Stewart, "Hazeldene," Trafalgar.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 67).

There were two fine boars over 15 months old; the others were not so good, age beginning to tell in several instances. The first prize winner was a very nice pig, but a little faulty in the feet. The boar placed second failed a little in shape. He was big across the shoulders, making the hind part light by comparison. Though the third prize winner was a good pig, he was still a fair number of points behind the others. The winner in this class also gained the Champion Ribbon.

Champion Yorkshire Boar, "Royal" Show, 1920.

"LONSDALE JOCK" (1636), exhibited by Messrs. Robert Thompson and Sons Pty. Ltd.

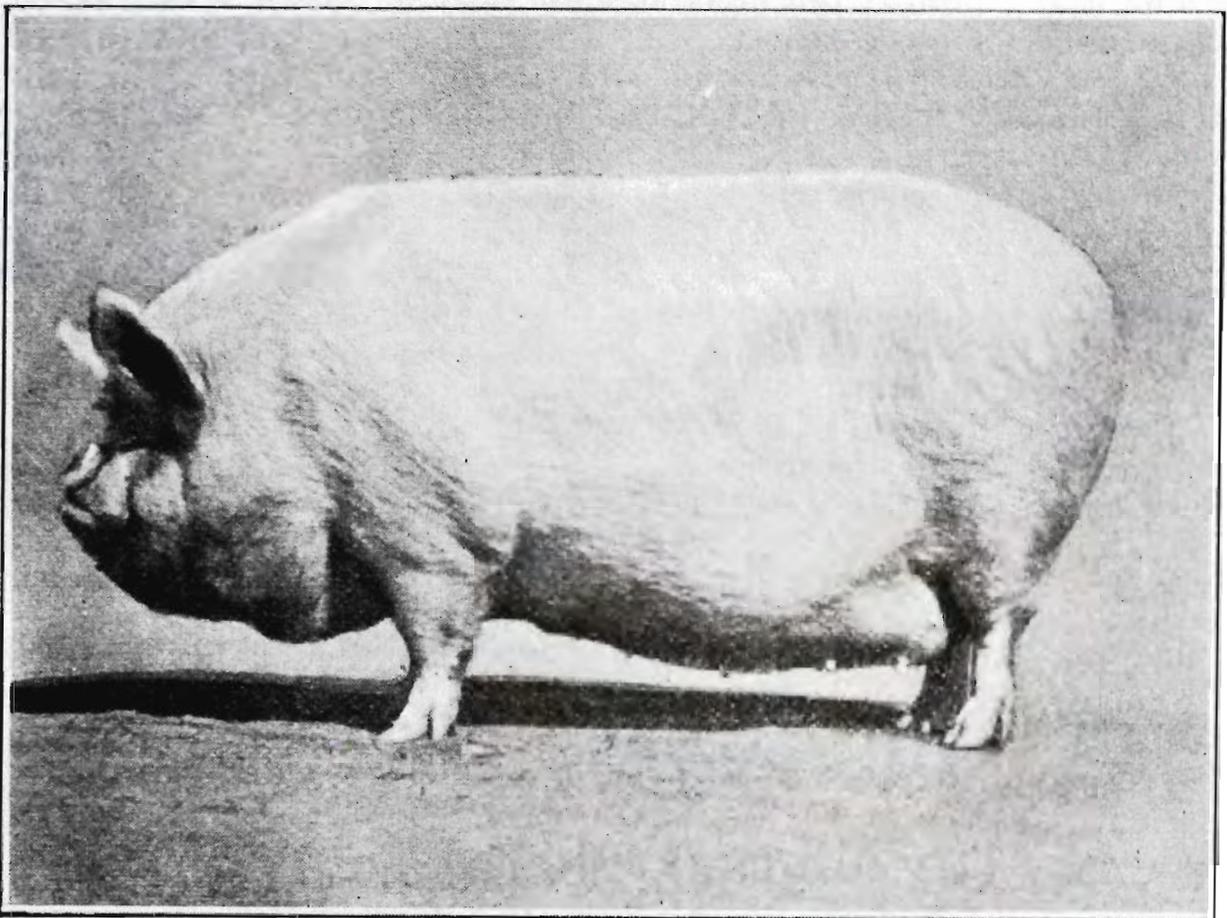

In boars under 15 months, the entry was large, but after taking out about 8 pigs the rest tailed off considerably, the winner, a splendid pig, winning easily. He was also close up for the championship. The second prize winner was a good pig of rather different type from the first. He was an even pig, rather wavy and curly in the hair, but otherwise good. The third was more like the first in type, but light in the hams.

The boars under 6 months were not so well represented as usual. The first prize pig was rather on the small side, but has a good head and ears, hair long and straight, good shape, and should make a fine boar. The second prize winner was a fair pig, losing in head and hair to the winner. The third was also a fair pig.

The first prize sow over 15 months was a splendid specimen of the breed, winning easily in her class, and also gaining the championship. The second prize sow was a very fine pig of the same type as the first. The third was a good sow, very shapely, but of smaller type. There were several other good sows, and I consider this was the most typical class in the Yorkshire section.

The sows under 15 months were of fair quality, with a few standing out. The first prize sow was very nice, showing nicely in pig, her hair, which was a little rough about the head, standing up too much. This was certainly her greatest fault. This sow was awarded the Reserve Championship. There was very little between the second and third prize winners.

The sows under 6 months were not so good as the others. Beyond the winners, the class fell away very considerably.

Champion Yorkshire Sow, "Royal" Show, 1920.
 "WESTBANK SILVER" (1670), exhibited by Mr. R. Yann.

Barring two entries, the class for sows with litters was not in any way up to the usual Royal Show standard. The first prize winner was a good sow with a splendid even litter, but the other exhibits fell away very much.

There were three entries in the large Yorkshire class, type and quality being decidedly inferior to what I judged two years ago. These pigs were altogether too coarse and "leggy." The three Tamworths entered were all fine pigs, but this breed does not seem very popular, as there have been very few exhibited at any of the shows where I have judged.

In the Yorkshire classes many exhibits had faulty ears, these being too short and prickly. Breeders should be very particular in mating sows on account of this fault.

POULTRY.

LEGHORNS.

Mr. G. E. Brown, Hampton.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 69).

Amongst the white cocks the first stood out as a shining light as to how exhibits should be prepared. Wanting in type slightly, with ear lobes of high color, but the tail carriage was correct. The second cock had one ear lobe injured. Had this blemish not crept in, and had he been prepared with more care, he was worthy of disputing with the first for the highest honor. The third cock had a comb of decided Minorca shape, touching and following the neck. One or more birds in this class showed evidence of grossness.

The first amongst the hens was the only hen with a semblance of that peculiar female essential, viz., a fold in the comb, and surpassed all others as to brilliancy of red color in comb and face. The second and third hens excelled in type and quality of feather, but comb and faces were pale and weak.

Amongst the cockerels the first was my selection for best light breed in the Show, but as he had two slight blemishes he had to give way to the Andalusian female. Several others were good but their tail carriage was low, which spoilt their chance.

The three carded pullets had the same outline of type and feather as the second and third hens; combs and faces were in similar condition as the hens, but being younger, these defects were not so pronounced. Most of the uncarded pullets were faulty in the direction of comb, being too stiff, while others were stilty.

Taking both classes of the Brown Leghorn males as a whole, they were disappointing, as not one came up to the English standard of light color, all being dark American.

The brown females also were not up to the quality of former years, many failing in "tone" of body color, and hang of comb.

Blacks and Buffs appear to be declining in number and quality, while rosecomb females of both varieties had overhanging combs.

GAME (OTHER THAN INDIAN) AND BANTAMS.

F. D'Helin, "Roseneath," Geelong.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 73).

I am sorry that I cannot give a good report, but on looking back to the last time I judged the game fowls at the Royal Show, I find that the birds are losing ground, both in type and color. They are also depreciating in stamina. These faults are evidently caused by inbreeding and using inferior hens, also by mating all colors together. This cannot be done with old English game.

Considering it was a club show, there was a poor display in quality. Some of the birds were exhibited in a disgraceful condition. Some were covered with vermin, and others broken feathered. This made it difficult to judge and impossible to give satisfaction.

There have been no outstanding features in the old English game during the past season. Black Red Cocks and Cockerels were the best in quality. The winning cock won solely on color and condition, beating better birds, which were exhibited badly. Ducklings were only fair. Spangles have made no improvement. Hens in all classes show deterioration.

Modern Black Reds have improved slightly, but are not up to the old standard.

Bantams had good classes, and are on the up grade. Two classes each should be made for Black Rosecombs and Sebrights.

I also consider it would be wise to revise the old English game classes. These birds are not now used for fighting, but are the best table fowls. The dark-legged classes should be cut out and white or yellow legs catered for. This is the English standard.

"FANCY" BREEDS (OTHER THAN MEDITERRANEAN AND MALAYS, GAME AND BANTAMS).

Mr. H. V. Hawkins, Queen's Walk, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 80).

The outstanding feature in my section was the Farmers' Trios, which were a great credit to each entrant. The first and second prize birds were difficult to separate, and, strange to say, both of the same breed—Red Sussex—and were owned by two distinct breeders. Langshans, Barred Rocks, Dorkings, etc., were of good quality. The Hamburg classes were also a great improvement upon last year, and in all classes very creditable entries were the rule rather than the exception. Those excellent table fowls, the Faverolle, though few in number were extremely fine birds. The winning hen, in my opinion, was one of the finest in type and color that has come under my notice during 30 years of judging. The management of the splendid pavilion left nothing to be desired, and it was to me, and I feel sure, to my brother judges, a pleasure in making the awards.

HEAVY UTILITY POULTRY.

Mr. J. E. Bradley, "Fernleigh," Bluff-road, Black Rock.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 83).

The Black Orpington Cocks were the best lot of utility birds I have seen together—all being useful sorts.

Hens, as usual, were rather a mixed lot, some rather good-looking birds being fat, which goes to show that breeders have either not grasped the true idea of selection of birds as breeders, or show gross carelessness in feeding. The first and second birds are worthy of special mention.

Cockerels were fair to good, the winner being a typical utility Orpington.

Pullets were similar to hens, and the same remarks apply in this class, with the difference that three nice handling, good type birds showed anaemic tendencies on the day of judging, which condition is to be avoided in utility birds.

Rhode Island Red Cocks provided a small class, the first and second birds being of good quality.

Hens were a good lot, the best I have ever seen together.

Cockerels were also a good lot, a little deficient in color, which no doubt will be rectified, as this breed is practically new to Australia.

Pullets comprised a small but select lot.

Any other variety males were a fair lot, especially the winner. This class is improving considerably.

Any other variety females were also a much improved lot of birds, but some rather good-looking ones were in the same condition as the Black Orpington hens.

UTILITY LIGHT BREEDS.

Mr. W. A. Shevill, Reserve-road, Cheltenham.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 83).

The above section made a very creditable showing, but was practically made up of White Leghorns, amongst which the quality was superb.

Taking the young males as a whole the number of entries was good, considering the event is held in the breeding season; consequently some breeders do not wish to lose the time with an exceptional male bird.

The winning cockerel was a beauty, and a credit to the owner. Cocks made a fair showing with fewer entries than the cockerels, and quality not up to the latter.

White Leghorn pullets were the pride of the section, the strongest entry and best quality I have seen together, the winner being a perfect specimen, whilst the other carded birds and many others were very good indeed. White Leghorn hens made a fair showing.

Any other variety Light Breeds made light entries, as is usual in this class, it being made up principally of Brown Leghorns. The winning cockerel of this breed showed great style and quality.

Hens of any other variety Light Breeds saw some very fair specimens, and were quite up to expectations in regard to numbers for this class.

In taking the section right through, it was extra good, only one or two crooked breasted birds being shown.

There was one dubbed bird, which could not qualify, dubbing not being permissible under the utility standard.

The birds were all in fine health and nearly every exhibit was well shown.

The Society is to be congratulated upon the excellent management, courtesy of the stewards, and the unsurpassable facilities afforded the judges.

TURKEYS, GEESE AND DUCKS.

Mr. P. Briggs, Chesterville-road, Moorabbin.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 86).

The number of exhibits and the quality was, on the whole, not up to the usual high standard of the "Royal," the probable reason being the high price of feed, which has compelled many breeders to curtail operations for the present.

The winning Rouens were very good, as were also the Pekin drakes, but the ducks were deficient in size and quality. That grand old breed, the Aylesbury, showed a great falling away, and evidently requires new importations to revive it to its former supremacy. It is, without exception, the best of all breeds for table purposes. Indian Runners, have not improved, and most of the birds were in bad condition. Muscovies had a large entry, the winners being of large size and good in type.

Geese were confined to the Toulouse variety, and were fairly good in quality.

Turkeys made one of the most attractive features of an otherwise magnificent display of poultry, the winning cocks being of splendid color, size and type. The hens also were of grand size and correct type, but were deficient in color.

FANCY PIGEONS—PART II.

Mr. J. J. Young, 19 Nottingham-street, Prahran.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 89).

Special reference must be made to the vast improvement in the pigeon house, which reflects great credit upon the Society. The permanent pens are quite ideal, and the manner in which the pavilion was laid out was quite a feature of the Show. Much credit is due to the Pigeon Superintendent for the artistic and tasteful manner in which flags and bunting, as well as handsome cups and trophies were arranged and displayed. The pigeon section was easily the finest feature of the whole Show.

In reviewing the various breeds I had the honor of judging, the Turbits, Blondinettes, and Tumblers stood out, both in numbers and quality. Generally speaking, all varieties were far above the average of previous years.

In Turbits, the blues were easily the best, the winners showing plenty of type and quality. Rare specimens were shown by Messrs. J. J. Pilbeam and C. Leng.

Blondinettes were a remarkably good lot; the flower of the fancy made a nice show. Mr. J. Maude's black laced cock stood out. He was of grand type with good head and fine lacings. In the dun laced there were some nice typical birds, but many were weak in lacings.

In Long Faced Tumblers, Mr. H. J. Smith's team stood right out for type, quality and condition. The winning adult yellow self hen and the cup winning young yellow self hen were both birds of special merit. Mr. C. Meaker's second and third red selfs, though of nice quality, failed to the winner in size and character.

Short Faced Tumblers, with one or two exceptions, were a fairly even lot. Mr. A. Wurz showed a nice team of show homers, and annexed all the first prizes. The cup winner, a blue, was of good length of face, with nice sweep, and rare body and feathers.

PRODUCE.

OATS, BARLEY AND PEAS.

Mr. W. H. McFarlane, Niagara Park, Bacchus Marsh.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 114).

The barley, oats and peas were quite up to usual standard. The addition of a soldiers' class this year is a step in the right direction. The exhibits were not as representative as the section deserves. If it were possible to have a class for the first prize cereals from the agricultural societies throughout the State, it would be most advantageous from an educational and commercial point of view. So much depends upon sowing the right class of seed that, given a bigger entry, growers would then feel confident that they had a representative selection to choose from. At present, in the open class, the exhibits are drawn from comparatively few districts. The innovation of judges being asked to give reasons for their decisions was fully availed of in this section, and proved mutually satisfactory to exhibitor and judge alike. I consider it is a splendid idea.

MAIZE.

Mr. H. James, Orbost.

(Complete awards in this section will be found on page 115.)

The exhibits of maize cobs were, on the whole, rather poor, with the exception of the 90-day maize, which was very good. It would appear that exhibitors have not very clear ideas as to the type of cob which should be selected for show purposes, as there were some badly-developed cobs, tapering from butt to tip, and filled with coarse, unevenly-packed grain.

A good cob of the Dent varieties, white or yellow, should be nearly cylindrical in shape, tapering as little as possible, should have a small core, with butt and tip well filled with matured grain, and the grain should also be packed closely, and show only the smallest space between the rows. A cob of this description will give the largest percentage of grain, and is the best type for seed.

The shelled grain was on the whole of good quality.

The small number of exhibits is disappointing, as there should be a better showing in this State, which now produces a considerable quantity of maize.

SUGAR BEET.

Mr. J. R. Scott, Department of Agriculture, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 117).

There were three competitors in the class for sugar beet. The beets were, in my opinion, true to name. The shape of the beets indicated that they were all of the same variety. The quality of two of the exhibits was not sufficiently high to merit consideration, since the sugar content in each did not reach a total of 11 per cent. The roots of one sample were too large, averaging over 6 lbs. per root. The roots of the other sample were on the small side, and appeared to be not fully grown, the average weight of these roots being 1½ lbs. The sample allotted the prize was a well-grown lot of roots, although they might be considered to be on the big side. The sugar content—approximately 15 per cent.—is to be considered as good for sugar beet suitable for factory use.

FARM PRODUCE (EXCEPT CEREALS AND POTATOES).

Mr. J. Hill, 61 Avoca-street, South Yarra.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 114).

The exhibits that I judged at the last Show were well up to the usual standard, and in some cases above it, notably the Canadian Wonder beans, which, as a class, would be very hard to beat, the first prize lot being as near perfection as possible. The classes for hay and chaff were well filled and of first-rate quality, and the awards show that Victoria is well able to hold her own in competition with some good exhibits from South Australia.

POTATOES.

Mr. J. T. Ramsay, Department of Agriculture, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 118).

Taken as a whole, the standard of the exhibits was a marked improvement on what has been shown for the last few years. The standard sack portion of the exhibit was particularly strong, and of very high quality.

I should like to suggest an improvement, which, I think, could be made in the sprouted Boxed Seed Section. At the present time there is no stipulation as to the class of box in which sprouted seed potatoes should be shown. To my mind, a standard case or a standard box should be specified in the prize schedule. This would improve matters by securing uniformity for one thing, and compelling exhibitors to exhibit practically the same quantity, as the boxes would have to be filled. At the present time boxes of various sizes and shapes, some suitable and others unsuitable, are tabled by exhibitors.

TABLE VEGETABLES.

Mr. T. Marriott, McGuinness-road, Bentleigh.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 118).

It was the best display of vegetables that has been staged at a Royal Show so far. The quality was excellent. It shows what can be done when the prize money is attractive.

I would like to suggest that in future turks' caps be classed as "five crown turks' caps" and "plain turks' caps." Beetroot to be classed as "long beetroot" and "turnip-rooted beetroot," and that prizes be offered for a collection of twelve varieties of vegetables to those who have never won a first prize.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETIES' COMPETITION

DAIRY PRODUCE AND FOODS.

Mr. G. H. Deeley, Elliott-avenue, Murrumbeena.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 119).

The samples of butter were very good, but some had rather too much moisture. It should be remembered that only a certain amount is allowed. The colour, in some cases, was too high. A nice clear straw is correct. Some boxes were rather soiled. Exhibitors should always see to it that the boxes arrive in a clean condition, as this goes a long way in the sale of goods.

All samples of cheese were of fair quality, though some were rather open in texture. A close texture is the correct thing. The cloth should be left on, as this is the way the cheese should be marketed, otherwise it would all break in transit.

Splendid samples of milk were exhibited. The cream was good, but in some cases it had gone sour.

Some of the ham and bacon exhibits were butchered very badly. It would be well for exhibitors to leave some out of their displays for cutting purposes, as no one can give proper judgment unless these goods are cut.

There was only one display of small goods of any note. The display of preserved fruits was, on the whole, rather poor. Lard, tallow and oil exhibits were good, whilst a very good display of eggs was made.

FRUITS, PICKLES, SAUCES, VEGETABLES AND ROOTS.

Mr. F. W. Vear, Burwood.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 119).

The general arrangement of the exhibits and the ticketing were very satisfactory. The only exhibit that seemed difficult to judge was the potatoes, which were, with the exception of the Whittlesea exhibit, scattered about amongst other vegetables. If these were kept together, it may probably spoil the general effect; so, taking it altogether, it may be as well to leave things as they are.

WOOL.

Mr. D. P. C. Wilson, c/o. Dennys, Lascelles, Geelong.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 119).

In regard to the wool exhibits, they were all thoroughly representative of the wool grown in the various districts. Whittlesea and Bacchus Marsh were especially good, but in those localities the climate and country are more suitable for the production of good wool.

STATE SCHOOL COMPETITIONS.

FODDER, CROPS, GRAIN AND POTATOES.

Mr. J. H. Refshauge, Agricultural High School, Ballarat.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 120).

On the whole the grains were worthy of exhibition. In some cases the nomenclature was wrong. What seemed strange was that grains from southern areas in many cases were superior to those from the northern districts. One can quite understand this being the case in peas, beans and barley, but that it should be so with wheats is surprising, unless want of rain prevented development.

Fodders were presented chiefly by schools in the districts of good rainfall, and were superior in quality to those shown for some years.

The potato entries were more numerous than for some years. Taken as a whole, these were not as good specimens as usual.

The work of judging was greatly facilitated by the method in which the exhibits were set up, and by the ready assistance given by the stewards.

FORESTRY, FRUIT TREES AND VEGETABLES.

Mr. W. H. Callister, Shepparton.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 119).

In this section the entries were rather more numerous this year, and the quality of the exhibits was decidedly better. In the vegetable department the carrots, parsnips, beet, turnips, leeks, etc., were very fine, and reflected great credit on the growers. Some specimens were past their prime, as, for instance, the large turnips, which were hollow, and the beet, which did not cut red and juicy throughout. But taken all round the display in vegetables was very good. Melons and pumpkins were small but sound, and of good quality.

There was only one exhibit—though an excellent one—of dried fruits. The preserved fruits were first class, that from Shepparton East being very fine, both as regards the varieties of fruit (apricots, peaches and pears being selected for treatment) and its quality.—A well-prepared exhibit of fruits of a different type, such as cherry plums, Kentish cherries, gooseberries, etc., was sent in from a school in the Western District.

Though some excellent samples of prepared sections of different timbers were shown, the forestry exhibit was not quite up to the usual standard, some of the specimens not being suitable for transplanting.

On the whole, the display was a good one. It was well set out, and attracted considerable attention. The system of labelling adopted was well designed to catch the public eye.

FORAGE AND ROOTS, GRASSES, CLOVER, HONEY AND FLAX.

Mr. J. P. McLennan, School of Primary Agriculture and Horticulture, Burnley.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 121).

The exhibits judged by me were uniformly of a fairly high standard, considering that they were grown by school children.

There were some good exhibits of grasses, both introduced and native, although only two exhibits of the latter were on view. A few errors in naming occurred, and occasionally a native grass was included in the section for introduced ones.

The lucerne specimens were all good, and the clovers were fair. Some errors in naming were evident again here. The growing of correctly named specimens will benefit not only the pupils, but also the residents who see the plots at the school.

Only two exhibits of flax were seen, the better of the two being very well set out. The specimens shown in the Root Section were all good, although a mangel was shown as a sugar beet.

Some specially good samples of honey, both in jars and in the comb, were shown.

In view of the large number of schools at which primary agriculture is taught, I would expect to see a large display, although, of course, quality is preferable to quantity without quality.

I desire to acknowledge the assistance and courtesy of the stewards in charge, and to compliment them upon the excellent arrangements of the exhibits.

CHEESE.

Mr. G. C. Sawers, Department of Agriculture, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 123).

Numerically, entries in all the cheese classes, as compared with previous years, showed a distinct falling off, but the exhibits, with very few exceptions, showed a uniform improvement in quality, body and texture, being firm and very close. The flavor, as a whole, was distinctly good, the principal faults being slight acidity and insipid flavor. This condition is termed curdy.

BUTTER.

Mr. P. J. Carroll, Rialto, Collins-street, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 124).

It is regrettable that factory managers in this State do not take a keener interest in the success of this section of the Show. I have endeavoured, without a great deal of success, to induce those with whom I come in contact to make the exhibit one worthy of the butter industry in this State; there were a few additional entries this season, but the total should reach nearly 100.

The quality, with the usual one or two exceptions, was satisfactory, and some reached a very high standard. Messrs. J. E. Handbury's exhibit, and that of the Tallangatta Butter Factory were very fine indeed, and showed a marked improvement in the quality of butter turned out by these factories. This improvement is due to the adoption of pasteurisation in these factories, and the splendid advertisement the system has received, and the prompt dissemination of the knowledge through the medium of the show will be of immense value to the dairy industry. The results demonstrate the very great value of pasteurisation when properly carried out, as a means of raising the standard of quality of Victorian butter, and I trust factory managers will appreciate the assistance rendered by the Society by an increased number of entries at the forthcoming Jubilee Show.

BACON, HAMS, LARD AND EGGS.

E. J. Shelton, Esq., c/o Messrs. Badgery Bros. Ltd., 14 Castlereagh-street, Sydney, New South Wales.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 124).

The number of entries was very disappointing. There must be some reason for this poor response to the Society's efforts to assist the industry per medium of the prize schedule.

It was my first visit to a Melbourne show as a judge, and was the first occasion on which I had the opportunity to spend time at this section, as on previous visits all my time had been taken up stock buying, etc.

There seemed to be an impression amongst those to whom I spoke who had competed at former shows, but whose entries were conspicuous this year by their absence, that the judging had not been at all satisfactory, nor had there been any continuity in the matter, different judges had been appointed, and they had in some way not seen eye to eye with the exhibitors. The result, so it appeared, was that there were only three exhibitors in the curers' classes.

I am quite satisfied that the quality of the exhibits in general could be further improved on, so that it cannot be said perfection has been attained, nor can it be said that any one exhibitor can so cure and prepare his exhibit, and so polish and trim same, that he can knock all the other exhibitors into the proverbial "cocked hat."

As a matter of fact, in the classes in which Mr. George Farmer was successful in gaining first awards, and in which Messrs. J. C. Hutton and Co. had to take second place, their exhibit was from a commercial standpoint equal in every way to that of the winner, although the special quality, finish and appearance of the winner's exhibit lifted him above the others. Messrs. Hutton and Co. can, however, be complimented on putting up a most attractive and high-class exhibit.

It was noted with regret that this same competition was missing in some of the classes, and it is hoped that at future shows the exhibitors will rally round and fill the benches to overflowing, so that the keenest of competitors will have a good run for the coveted awards.

Lard is an unsatisfactory product to judge and always affects the awards in the "collection." It would be a good thing to cut lard out of the collection class as at present arranged, and arrange the class so that it would read: Three each, hams, flitches, sides, rolls, and small goods (lard, sausage—fresh and smoked), and tinned pork products. —(One ham, flitch and side to be bagged, and one ham to be cooked). This would give more general satisfaction in a class that for years has been unsatisfactory to both judge and exhibitor.

Lard could still be retained in the schedule in separate classes, substituting one 56lb. box of lard in preference to bladders of lard, which are not now available on the market, their place having been taken by the pound cartons, which could not very well be used in competitive classes owing to the fact they might become soft and shapeless.

The other classes are in order, and, although the prize money is not over generous, this is a matter that can be adjusted. The judge cuts a ham worth from £1/5/- to £2, and its value is considerably reduced as a result. A side of bacon, once cut, is reduced in value, so is a cooked ham, etc.; hence it is only fair in this section to make some allowance in the prize money for the loss the exhibitor suffers as a result of the necessary cutting up of some of his exhibits.

The egg classes were not filled to the same capacity as might be expected in a State like Victoria, whose poultry industry is of such dimensions. The quality of the exhibits was very satisfactory.

It would be a distinct improvement to hang the bacon exhibits on rails instead of laying them on top of one another on benches, because neither the judge, exhibitors nor the general public can see the different exhibits to advantage. It would considerably reduce the labour at time of judging, and would be beneficial in every way.

The exhibits of farm cured meats should also be much more numerous, for the exhibits in this class were of good quality. A special prize might be offered in this class for a collection of one each ham, side, fitch, cured and smoked in the ordinary way on the farm.

I would very much like to see a liberal prize offered for the best competitive display of bacon factory products, such as the Society offered years ago. This would induce more competition throughout the classes.

FRUITS.

Mr. J. Jordan, Burwood.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 129).

The method of displaying the fruit was admirable, as each exhibitor had an equal opportunity of showing his fruit to advantage. The apples exhibited were very fine, some specimens being worthy of special mention. The pears, owing to the lateness of the season, did not show to equal advantage; nevertheless, they made a very creditable display.

HORTICULTURE.

Mr. G. Cooper, Alexandra-avenue, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 132).

Competition in this section, although confined to two exhibitors, was satisfactory.

A very effective group of pot plants, including some beautiful specimens of the walking stick palm, azaleas and rhododendron, were a welcome feature in this section.

Twelve table plants shown included palms, ferns, etc.

The hanging baskets and window boxes were well filled with choice plants.

The competition for both variegated and green aspidistra was very keen.

APICULTURE.

Mr. F. R. Buehne, Department of Agriculture, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 133).

I consider the number of entries and the total absence of entries in some classes very disappointing, in view of the special efforts made by the Royal Society and the Victorian Apiarists' Association to secure a better display of apiary products than has been in evidence during recent years.

In the class for pale extracted honey from native flora, which comprises our standard honeys, such as yellow box and yellow gum, and the class for dark honey, of which we have a great variety, there were no entries; while in the classes for honey from introduced flora, and assorted display of apiary products, all the entries were from the same exhibitor. In classes for beeswax white and beeswax yellow, there was but one entry in each. The paucity of exhibits in the extracted honey classes reduced to a minimum the difficulty of judging the colour and density of honey, when displayed in glassware of different diameters and shades of glass. While the colour of glass can be allowed for by the judge, the impression made upon the general public, and particularly upon visitors from oversea countries, to which we may wish to export our surplus, leaves us at a disadvantage in comparison with honey at shows in Great Britain and the United States, where honey is always exhibited in cylindrical jars of small diameter made of crystal glass, known as standard 16oz. honey jars.

With a return to normal trade conditions, this disadvantage may be eliminated by means of a regulation in the prize schedule prescribing the type and shape of the jars in which honey in the competitive classes must be shown.

Since the removal of the obstacles to keener competition and the reclassification of the "extracted" classes, I can only attribute the apparent apathy of honey producers to the depressing influence of the drought during the past season, which severely affected not only the returns, but the prospects of apiculture for the time being.

WOMEN'S INDUSTRIES.

PLAIN NEEDLEWORK.

Mrs. Harvey Smith, Upper Beaconsfield.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 133).

There was certainly a great improvement in nearly all entries this year, and plain needlework attained a much higher standard than at any previous show. The average woman seems to realise that hand sewing, if well done, lasts twice as long as machine work. Some of the hand-sewn garments were excellent, especially the blouses. The trousseau sets deserve great praise, and it was indeed difficult to award the prize in this class. Children's frocks were very dainty.

The home dressmaker also deserves special mention. There were six entries, and several of them showed great skill and almost an entire absence of the amateur hand. Even in boys' suits, the home worker has shown great skill. Just now, when men's clothing is such an awful price, it is a great saving if a mother can make her boys' clothes.

At last we had some good infants' outfits, and this class was better filled than at previous shows. I hope to see still more next year.

The millinery was greatly improved, and two hats in particular were quite professional in appearance.

The practical woman showed what can be made out of valueless articles, such as old stockings, samples of lace and bits of material. These were pieced together in a very clever way, and the exhibitors ought to be congratulated on their efforts.

In men's flannels, pyjamas and shirts the entries were few, but the socks were very numerous, and most of them well made.

Buttonholes, both on linen and tweed, were very good.

FANCY NEEDLEWORK.

Miss Z. H. Stokes, 16 Yarra-grove, Hawthorn.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 136).

I would suggest that if any work is soiled, it should be washed, but not starched or blued. A dipping in borax water should be sufficient. Also, I advise that Mount Mellick work should be kept to the original kind of work done in Mellick, Ireland, viz., on satin jean worked in knitting cotton and edged with hand-knitted fringe. Also that Irish crochet be classed separately from other kinds. The white work shown as Mount Mellick should really be classed as white embroidery.

FINE ARTS.

Mrs. Theo. Anderson, Temple Court, Collins-street, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 138).

It is a pleasure to report that in the Art Section of the last show there was a marked improvement in the work, it being of a higher order than that previously exhibited. I would like to add that I think the great success and the marked advance of the Women's Section of the show is due to the unfailing courtesy and untiring energy of the Chief Stewardess, as only those working with her can have the very remotest idea of her wonderful tact and forethought for the welfare of everyone and the good of the show in general.

ARTS AND CRAFTS.

Miss F. E. Tronson, 69 Drummond-street, Carlton.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 139).

As usual, pen painting attracted many exhibitors, and the work was fair on the whole. A couple of more advanced exhibits, "The Golden Pheasant" and "Kookaburra" were rather nicely done. The class for pastinello work had two good samples.

Pen and ink sketches, both in landscape and portraiture, were very good. Two exhibitors chose the Prince of Wales as their subject in portraiture, one especially being a very fine piece of work.

Fashion-plate drawing has not attracted many entries, being rather outside the work of the amateur. Some very nice pieces of raffia work were seen. The poker work was rather poor, and could well be improved upon.

FOODS.

Miss Flora Pell, 3 Nelson Square, Simpson-street, East Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 140).

I have much pleasure in reporting that the standard in the Foods Section was high in all classes; in fact, in all my years of judging in the Royal Show I can safely say that 1920 stands out as the highest standard yet reached.

There were many entries in the home-made bread, and the collection was a very fine lot.

The cakes—sponge, plain and fruit—were hard to judge, as they were all so good, and the prize takers may well be proud.

The entries in the class for cheese straws were quite the best I have judged at the show. Flavour, size and colour showed much improvement. Pastry was very fair to good.

The Sweets Section had a large number of entries. The art of sugar boiling was beautifully shown in clear toffee. The fondant and marzipan was a credit in the way of taste, in colour, and dainty setting up of the trays.

A wonderful display of preserved fruits was sent in by one competitor. It was very fine, but at the same time quite unnecessary as far as competition went. It would be well to state a limited number for competition, and perhaps sanction "a display" in some suitable position for the owner to arrange.

It was pleasing to note that the annex allotted to woman's work has been brightened considerably by the whitening of the ceiling and walls. The cases were effectively arranged, and well displayed all items for competition.

As seen by marks allotted to the three entries of "one woman's work," the total points gained only just came up to the number required for each prize.

ARENA EVENTS

OTHER THAN HUNTING AND TROTTING CONTESTS.

Captain C. E. Hobson, 95 Maribyrnong-road, Ascot Vale.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 143).

The "Scarlett and Co." High Jump was keenly contested, and the quality of the competing horses was good, but the contest was marred by heavy rain.

The "Kodak" High Jump was also a well-contested event.

The "Watson's No. 10" Pony High Jump was another good event.

The High Jumps seem to be highly attractive to the public, and are watched with the keenest of interest.

The "Craig, Williamson" Water Jump was the best event of its kind that I have witnessed, and was a great improvement on former years.

The "Sun Raysed" Flag Races and the "Kay's" Bending Races were all well contested events, the ladies especially showing much keenness. It is evident that they must have spent much time practising for these events, for both ponies and riders showed efficiency, and were much appreciated by the public.

The Ladies' Riding Competition (astride) was a good event. A few competitors stood out from the others, though many aped the jockey style of riding and adopted the "Tod Sloan" seat.

The Ladies' Riding Competition (side saddle) was rather a poor competition. This method of riding seems to be going out.

The "Excelsior" Boys' Riding Competition was on the whole a good competition, and most of the boys showed proficiency. A few rode too short, and consequently could not handle their ponies properly.

The Girls' Riding Competition was a very good event and keenly competed for, the girls showing much proficiency and good tuition.
